University Opposes Borough Ordinance To Regulate Noise

Borough Council last Tuesday night continued its efforts to fine-tune a proposed noise ordinance and get it ready for introduction. This ordinance attempts to deal with the noise created by construction equipment and by garden and maintenance equipment. It was first presented for introduction back in December, after residents of the Central Business District complained at a Council meeting that the noise levels in town were too high.

The Tuesday night meeting saw the emergence of a new player in the proceedings — Princeton University — whose spokeswoman read a statement saying that "the proposed changes in the noise ordinance regarding the use of maintenance equipment and

In Rare Democratic Party Primary Contest Mark Freda Is Challenging Incumbent Mayor

Primary Day usually rolls through Princeton with the force of a dandelion puffball on a breeze. But things are different this year. On Tuesday, June 6, Borough Council President Mark Freda is challenging Mayor Marvin Reed in an attempt to win the Democratic Party nomination for Mayor of Princeton Borough.

In November, the victor will face Ray Wadsworth, the Republican Mayoral candidate.

The Democratic primary contest pits two experienced local legislators against each other — Mayor Reed with five years as Mayor preceded by six years on Council, and Mr. Freda, now in his tenth year on Council.

This week's interview with Mr. Freda will be followed by an interview with Mr. Reed in next week's issue of TOWN TOPICS.

Mark Freda, a Fisher Avenue resident who was born and reared in Princeton, said that serving as Mayor has been an ambition of his for several years. He believes this is the right time to seek election.

"There are a number of issues facing the Borough that need to be looked at in a different perspective than they are now, challenges that need a different type of leadership than we have now," he said.

More than half the Borough is composed of properties

Township Reluctantly Approves ADA Renovations to Facilities

Princeton Township Committee has approved a bond ordinance that authorizes $160,000 to bring three municipal facilities into compliance with the provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA).

Proposed renovations to the Valley Road municipal building, police headquarters, and the recreation building will provide access for disabled individuals.

Although all members of Township Committee agreed the work must be done, they shared the views of Committee member Phyllis Marchand, who said at Monday's meeting, "I'm in favor of this because there is no alternative, but it seems a shame that we have to put this kind of money into a building that we had already decided was inadequate to our needs."

Mrs. Marchand was referring to Committee's decision last fall to replace the existing municipal building with a new facility. This is now on hold, pending the outcome of possible Borough-Township consolidation studies.

Two plans for minimal renovations to the municipal buildings were presented at the meeting by Princeton architect, Robert Sussna. One calls for the construction of a new wooden ramp in front of the Valley Road building to the south side of the main entrance, with access through the main front door. A disabled person would ride a stair-rail climbing lift up the half-flight to the upper level.

A second plan involves parking in the rear of the building, access to the lower floor at the rear, and a lift from the lower to upper floor.

Proposals for police headquarters and recreation building were identical in both plans, and the overall costs of both plans were essentially the same.

Although he expressed some reservations, Mr. Sussna recommended the first plan. "First of all, the ramp is a visible feature in front of the building. It's never going to be able to look like an original part of the building, given the amount of construction money we have available."

As a wooden structure, it has a potential for vandalism, he added, and also some shrubbery would have to be removed to make room for it.

Nevertheless, he said, "In my opinion, it is the best approach for disabled persons. They can enter in the front of the building like everyone else."

construction equipment would have a seriously detrimental effect on Princeton University's efforts to maintain its campus in a way that is appreciated by members of both the town and gown communities."

The earlier version of the ordinance was tabled in December after considerable discussion. The current version provides that construction work may not begin on weekdays before 7:30 a.m. or continue past 6 p.m.

Under the proposed ordinance, the use of lawnmowers, chain saws, blowers, mulchers, and garden equipment would be banned before 9 a.m. and after 9 p.m. on Mondays through Fridays and before 10 a.m. and after 9 p.m. on weekends.

Under current Borough law, use of this equipment is allowed after 7 a.m. on weekdays and 8 a.m. on weekends.

Pamela Hersh, director of community and state affairs for Princeton University, said the proposed ordinance would cost the University perhaps up to $1 million over the next five years.

She said that labor union agreements call for work to begin at 7 a.m., and that the University would have to honor these agreements even if the Borough forhade such work before 7:30 a.m.

have a problem with additional restraints on the permissible times for the use of garden and maintenance equipment, she said. "Since the main campus is very busy with foot traffic after 9 a.m.," said Ms. Hersh, "we feel that it is most important to minimize the potential safety conflicts between work crews and pedestrians by doing most of our grounds work prior to class and office working hours."

Council President Mark Freda told Ms. Hersh that, regardless of the contract the University has with labor unions, contracts can't take precedence over law. "I don't think 7:30 is too high a price to pay for letting people get more sleep in the Central Business District," he said.

The discussion reflected the reality of life in downtown Princeton, where stores, businesses, residences — and a major educational institution — live cheek by jowl. It has always been a challenge to the governing body to pass laws that will keep a balance of fairness among all the factions that make up the downtown.

Councilwoman Sandra Starr proposed that the University should be exempted from a 7:30 construction start, and that the Borough should be aware that a 7 a.m. work commencement is the industry standard.

She also suggested that the University be exempted from the new restrictions on the use of maintenance and garden equipment.

Considerable discussion of the question led to no conclusion, except that Councilpersons Arthur Saylor and Mildred Trotman would form a sub-committee to work on writing an ordinance that would gain as much acceptance among Council members as possible.

Sewer Fees Raised

In other business, Borough Council agreed that Tuesday night, May 23, at 8 p.m. would be the time for a public hearing on the 1995 budget. It also approved an ordinance raising sewer service fees from $37 to $41. This ordinance will also have a public hearing on May 23.

Council's introduction of an ordinance establishing a development fee of from one-half to one percent for new construction brought a written statement of complaint from Princeton University. This fee would be used toward the construction or renovation of affordable housing in the Borough.

The statement, read by Ms. Hersh, said the University considered the proposal to impose development fees on construction used strictly for educational, non-profit reasons to be de facto taxation and a violation of the State-mandated tax-exempt status of educational institutions.

The public hearing on this ordinance is also scheduled for May 23.

"We'll Meet Again," Say Borough and Township

Princeton Borough Council and Township Committee met Monday at Township Municipal Hall to discuss ways to improve the budgetary process for operation of their joint agencies and to take an overall look at future plans.

In a very congenial atmosphere, which included some light-hearted commentary among members of the governing bodies, Council and Committee agreed to hold three more joint meetings. These are planned for June, July, and August, and will also include heads of various agencies, such as the Library, Recreation Department, Board of Health, and Commision on Aging. Borough and Township oversee 13 joint agencies.

Instead of focusing strictly on financing, these meetings will cover broader areas, including what kinds of programs and policies are envisioned by the agencies over the next six years. Proposed costs will also be on the agenda, but the emphasis will be on overall policy.

TOPICS Of the Town

In remarks representing the views of other participants, Township Committee member Steven Frakt noted that an overall look at the joint agencies, "with an open-ended discussion of general principles and in a more informal manner" would be desirable. "We need to look at programs and policies and to set goals and priorities," he stated.

The next meeting is set for Tuesday, June 13.

Meeting in Trentan

In addition, Council and Committee discussed plans for representatives to attend a meeting next Tuesday with State of New Jersey assistant director, Division of Local Government Services, Marc H. Pfeiffer.

Council members Mayor Marvin Reed, Roger Martindell, David Goldfarb, Sandra Starr, and Arthur Saylor will join Committee representatives Mayor Michele L. Tuck, Mr. Frakt, and Township Attorney Edwin W. Schmierer at the Trenton meeting.

The invitation had been extended by Mr. Pfeiffer initially to determine whether statutory regulations, under the law, are obstacles to municipalities considering consolidation.

According to Mr. Martindell, that issue will be discussed, along with the possibility of an audit of Borough, Township, and School Board to find ways to consolidate delivery of services more efficiently.

The participants will also look into ways the state might help consolidation studies, both a 1996 statutory study, if that should take place, and a pre-study commission in 1995.

Invaluable Assistance

"This will be an opportunity to get some state assistance on focusing on the consolidation study," said Mr. Martindell, adding "This will be invaluable to us because of the state's resources.

"Also," he continued, "apart from consolidation, it will be a valuable meeting because the more joint service agreements between Borough, Township, and Schools, the better it will be for the people of Princeton."

Township Committeeman Steven Frakt agreed, pointing out also that "an audit of our operations in general will assist us to find ways where we might have economies. A joint effort of any kind is helpful."

Regarding consolidation studies, he added that the meeting will be helpful in determining "what assistance the Department of Community Affairs can give us with issues relating to financial analysis."

ADA Bond

Township Engineer Robert Kiser favored this plan, also noting that it allows everyone to go in the same way.

Committee members agreed, and approved the front ramp proposal. As Committeeman Steven B. Frakt noted, "How would anyone even know the entrance was in the back? Of course, it has to be in the front."

After the vote, Committee asked Mr. Kiser to present the plan to the Princeton Regional School District, which owns the Municipal Building.

Capital Improvements

In other business, Committee approved a bond ordinance that authorizes $1,377,000 to fund various capital improvements.

The major portion of the money is slated for road improvements, including Franklin Avenue from Harrison Street to Snowden Lane, Dodds Lane, Cherry Valley Road from Province Line Road to the Transco Easement (a gas line, midway between Cherry Hill Road and The Great Road), and storm sewer replacement for Henry Avenue from Jefferson Road to Harris Road.

The ordinance will also cover acquisition of equipment for the roads program. Work on Cherry Valley Road will get under way later this year, and other repairs will start in early 1996.

In addition, funding will provide for police and fire department equipment, office equipment, such as computer equipment, software, and photocopiers for the Township, a new boiler for the Valley Road building, and acquisition of an automated library system, shelving, furnishings and equipment for the library, as well as a variety of other capital improvements.

Committee also approved the low bid of $199,718.94 from Woolston Construction Company, Inc. of Bordentown for the reconstruction of Magnolia Lane.

Engineer Robert Kiser recommended acceptance of this bid, one of four, stating that "It is important to award this particular contract. It will provide for the replacement of sanitary sewers and the reconstruction of the roadway in front of the Littlebrook School. It is important that it be done now, so the contractor can start the work when school ends, and have it completed when school begins in the fall."

UPCOMING PARADE

This Saturday, Princeton's annual Memorial Day Parade will honor the veterans of all wars, but will pay particular attention to veterans of World War II. All veterans are encouraged to march, and to wear any parts of their old uniforms that they still have. See related story on pages 14 and 15.

The parade will assemble on Princeton Avenue at 10:15 a.m. and will "step off" at 11 a.m. for the one-mile walk to Borough Hall, where a brief ceremony will be held. A limited number of cars will be available to transport those unable to walk.

It is requested that all marchers, and particularly those in need of transportation along the parade route, call a special toll-free phone number, 1-800-BIG-1945, so that such arrangements can be made.

Health Commission Due To Meet with Med. Ctr.

The Princeton Medical Center has agreed to meet with the Regional Health Commission to go over a list of concerns recently voiced by the Health Commission at a meeting with the Joint Commission on Accredition of Healthcare Organizations.

Foremost among these, said Health Officer Bill Hinshillwood, is the need to establish a more permanent community representation with the hospital; the lack of a patient ombudsman to deal with discharge planning and after-care problems; and the need for improved clinic services.

On April 14, several members of the Health Commission met with representatives of the Joint Commission on Accreditation as part of its evaluation of the medical center.

Health Commission member Evelyn Geddes told the Joint Commission that there has not been an open, ongoing dialogue on health matters between the medical center and the Health Commission.

Also, said Ms. Geddes, "there has not been a joint effort to acknowledge community health problems and to seek solutions together.

Not Much Progress

Mr. Hinshillwood said that over the past three or four years there has not been a lot of progress in resolving some of the problems perceived by the Health Commission.

The list of concerns outlined by Ms. Geddes includes dissatisfaction with the way billing complaints are handled; the need for a walk-in non-urgent clinic because of long waits in the emergency room; the need for 24-hour translation services; long waits at the dental clinic and the need for repeat visits to complete services; and the slowness of response by the medical center to Health Commission questions, letters, and committees.

Ms. Geddes also told that Joint Commission on Accreditation that the approximately $70,000 cost of the Crosstown 62 transportation program should be taken over by the medical center since it serves the hospital and doctors; that the hospital's pediatric clinic and the Health Commission's Well Baby Clinic should be combined; and that the medical center should be a major participant in a needs assessment survey and should share in the approximately $50,000 the study will cost.

In a letter dated May 9, Medical Center President

3500 Acres of Thompson Land To Be Sold at Auction Thursday

For more than 35 years W. Bryce Thomspon IV has accumulated land — thousands and thousands of acres of real estate. Mr. Thompson is said to be the largest private landowner in Central New Jersey and possibly in the entire state.

On Thursday, 3,500 acres of Thompson lands spanning seven Central New Jersey counties will be offered for sale at an auction that has been dubbed "The Great Central Jersey Land Auction." The event will take place at the Holiday Inn (formerly the Ramada) on Route 1 at Ridge Road. Bidding starts at 10:30 with the Traiman real estate auction organization wielding the gavel.

One hundred parcels, ranging in size from one to 377 acres, will be offered for sale. The only property in Princeton is a 10-acre lot with frontage on Mount Lucas Road and an undeveloped portion of Herrontown Road. It is zoned OR-1 for office building and research facilities on a five-acre minimum lot.

Eight properties comprising 21 parcels are located in Montgomery Township. There are also properties in Lawrence, Hopewell, West Windsor, Franklin and South Brunswick Townships as well as in Hunterdon, Somerset, Burlington and Hunterdon counties. The land is suitable for a wide range of purposes, including residential and commercial development, equestrian, country estate, farmland and single building lots.

Mr. Thompson admits that "for a man like me, who has always been proud of having a reputation for buying bargains, but seldom giving any," the auction is a different kind of experience. "All my life, I've set the prices and determined what my properties were worth," he added.

Mr. Thompson cited a number of factors, including the necessity to reduce outstanding bank debt and a desire to "get off the treadmill" and semi-retire that are behind his decision to reduce his real estate holdings.

"Formerly banks would give me loans on an interest-only basis," he explained. "Now I'm faced with the requirement to amortize the principal as well. I would rather focus more of my time, financial resources and personal energy on fewer properties."

One of his projects in Princeton is the development of the lands straddling Drakes Corner Road that were formerly owned by Princeton University. Several very large homes are under construction on lots ranging in size from five to eight acres. Mr. Thompson also owns some 140 acres in the northeast corner of Princeton, some of which is in litigation against the Township for re-zoning that reduced the buildable density.

BOROUGH DEMOCRATS

VOTE JUNE 6

Re-Elect

MAYOR MARV REED

Endorsed by the Princeton Community Democratic Organization

In addition to presiding over Borough Council, election as Mayor brings with it leadership as a member of the Planning Board, as a trustee of the Public Library, and as head of the Borough's Non-Profit Housing and Redevelopment Corp. Seeking support for another four-year term means:

Helping the Planning Board revamp the Master Plan:

- ✓ Meeting a broader range of housing needs, especially regular and rent-subsidized senior housing, home care services for the elderly, assisted living, and nursing home facilities.
- ✓ Expanding recreation opportunities, improving playgrounds, and preserving open space.
- ✓ Battling truck and commuter traffic; protecting pedestrians and bicylists; improving public transportation.
- ✓ Enhancing our downtown Central Business District, particularly in completing the Palmer Square/Hulfish North development.

Helping improve our Library:

- ✓ Completing full computerization and opening public access to on-line information services.
- ✓ Expanding our over-crowded current facility.

Helping complete the Borough's Affordable Housing Program:

- ✓ Putting more emphasis on rehabilitation of existing housing and neighborhood improvement.
- ✓ Following through with new construction at the Shirley Court and Maclean St. sites, with less density and a better mix of middle-income and affordable units.

Thief of FedEx Package Nets Comics Worth $8,000

A Federal Express package left on the front doorstep of a freelance artist on Spruce Street was stolen on April 28, said police. The package contained $8,000 worth of black and white comic artwork by various artists, and had been sent by DC Comics in New York City.

According to police, the 44-year-old victim frequently works for the comic book giant.

Martin Kinney, 22, of 40 Edwards Place, was arrested by Borough Police after being seen on the grounds of the Princeton University campus on Saturday.

Mr. Kinney, who has been declared persona non grata by the University, was charged with defiant trespass. Because he also resisted arrest and caused a disturbance, he was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Police stopped Trenton resident Ronald McCray's car for failure to keep right on Stockton Street at 1:53 a.m. on Saturday, and subsequently arrested him for possession of marijuana.

The arresting officer saw cigarette rolling papers in the car and asked Mr. McCray if there was also marijuana in the car. Mr. McCray replied that there was, and pulled a marijuana cigarette from the ashtray.

A further search of the vehicle uncovered a large knife under the front seat of the car. Mr. McCray was charged with possession of marijuana (under 50 grams), possession of drug paraphernalia, and possession of a weapon. He was released pending a June court appearance.

An Apple Powerbook computer was stolen from an unlocked dorm room in Henry Hall between 4:30 p.m. on May 9 and 9 a.m. on May 13.

The computer was valued at $3,000.

Someone entered the office of a student video rental service in Laughlin Hall and stole $100 from a cash box. The theft occurred between midnight and 4 p.m. on May 10. There was no sign of forced entry.

Fifty dollars was removed from the wallet of a Nassau Inn guest between 4 p.m. last Wednesday and 11:30 a.m. on Thursday.

The wallet had been left in a handbag in the guest's room.

Locked to itself, a Schwinn mountain bike was nonetheless stolen from the front of the Colonial Club between 9:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. on May 4. It was valued at $370.

A $750 Cannondale bike left locked to a rack outside Witherspoon Hall was stolen between midnight and 5 p.m. on May 5.

A $350 trek locked to itself outside Blair Arch was stolen between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. on May 4.

Princeton Man Arrested With Stolen Phone Cards

Princeton Township police arrested a Franklin Avenue man on a contempt of court warrant last week, and added a charge of receiving stolen property after finding two phone cards belonging to other people in his possession.

Police responded to a dumpster fire at the Littlebrook School at 1:30 a.m. on Saturday morning.

The fire was extinguished by the Princeton Fire Department. It is the eighth such fire reported in the last several weeks.

Police arrested Sherri Fisher, 27, of 33 Redding Circle a week ago Monday. She was charged with disorderly conduct after an altercation with a bus driver.

According to police, officers responded to a call from a bus driver at Princeton Shopping Center. When they arrived, the driver was outside the bus, and told the officers that Ms. Fisher was inside.

Ms. Fisher refused to leave the bus without a refund of her fare. The driver was unable to refund the money, and said that he could only issue transfer passes.

According to police, Ms. Fisher's continuing verbal abuse of the bus driver became extremely graphic, and she was consequently arrested for disorderly conduct.

A young woman left her backpack unattended for five minutes at Community Park South last Monday, and returned to find it stolen.

Among the $1,260 worth of the victim's belongings in the pack were a $530 flute, a $500 piccolo, a $60 baseball glove, and a $75 pair of glasses.

A Hamilton Square man was arrested for possession of marijuana last Sunday at 11:03 p.m.

A police officer on routine patrol spotted an empty car in a parking lot near Carnegie Lake. He got out of the car and approached a boat house, where he saw two people and noticed a blue water pipe, or bong, under the dock.

Only one of the two was charged. Michael Zita, 18, of Line Road in Hamilton Square, will appear in court on charges of possession of marijuana (less than 50 grams) and possession of drug paraphernalia.

A Redding Circle resident returned home on Sunday to find that a burglar had been at work. A table and a pitcher were both overturned, and the apartment was missing $635 worth of clothing.

Police found no signs of forced entry. The burglary is believed to have occurred between 8:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

In Township Court this week, Marcia R. Gillessie, of 207 Salem Court; and Alisa J. Wells, of 479 Jefferson Road, were both fined $85 for speeding.

Christina M. Millas, of South River, was fined $350 for theft.

In Borough Court, Christina Aguilar, of 202 Ewing Street, was fined $125 for careless driving, $125 for leaving the scene of an accident, and $75 for driving without a license.

Heather Anderson, of 86 Spruce Street, was fined $125 for careless driving.

Gregory Finch of Princeton was fined $85 for failure to observe a traffic signal.

Taylor Marrow Jr., of 121 Birch Avenue, was fined $775 and had his license revoked for 30 days for driving on a suspended license.

Katherine Prescott, of 106 Carson Road, was fined $75 for failure to observe emergency traffic signals.

Ioylia Ugarova, of Princeton University's Hibben Apartments, was fined $85 for disregarding a stop sign.

Arturo Montenegro, 120 Witherspoon Street, was fined $225 for malicious damage to property.

Major Savings Possible In New Burner Contract

If the Mercer County freeholders approve a proposed new contract, the County could save $40 million in the cost of building and operating a massive trash incincerator on Duck Island in Hamilton.

In exchange for a savings of $40 million, the contract would give ownership of the plant to hurner-builder Ogden Martin Systems of Mercer Inc. at the end of a 20-year operating contract.

According to a new economic analysis released by Mercer County, the $40 million would substantially reduce the amount of debt the County would incur to build the $200 million hurner, and would make the burner-based solid waste plan less expensive than a system that relies primarily on landfills.

Princeton resident Wendy Benchley has been active in fighting against the trash incinerator for environmental and economic reasons.

She said last week that she and her colleagues in the battle against the burner have been vindicated hy efforts by County officials to pull together a new deal to make the project more economically appealing.

Ms. Benchley added that the incinerator plan still has the same basic faults. "It locks us into a hugely expensive capital project that we do not need."

Currently, the entire Duck Island incinerator project is in limbo because of uncertainty about whether the County will regain the right to direct trash to any disposal facility, such as the proposed incincerator.

Last year, a U.S. Supreme Court decision invalidated the practice of some local governments to assert control over the disposal of trash.

Alumni Day at PDS Has Many Activities

Princeton Day School will hold its annual Alumni Day on Saturday.

Activities include a five-kilometer run in the early morning, breakfast under the tent at Colross with newly appointed permanent Head of School Lila Lohr, the Panther Parade replete with clowns and a jazz band, a picnic, men's and women's lacrosse games and the Duck Race down Stony Brook to benefit the scholarship fund

In the evening there will be a cocktail party, a dinner with interim Headmaster Archer Harman and his wife Mari Harman in the Anne Reid Art Gallery in the upper school, and dancing under the Colross Tent until midnight. For registration information, call the alumni office at 924-6700, extension 217.

Country Western Dancing Is a Benefit for TASP

The Trenton After School Program (TASP) has scheduled an evening of Country Western Line Dancing Saturday at 7 at The Lawrenceville School hockey rink.

A caller from Oakey's at the Ramada Inn will instruct and call the dances. The evening will feature southwestern hors d'oeuvres with beer and wine available. The cost is $25 per person, $10 for children age 12 and under.

Proceeds will benefit the Trenton After School Program which provides mentoring, tutoring and enrichment activities to youngsters in elementary schools in Trenton.

Hamilton Jewelers Plan A Watch Fair and Clinic

Hamilton Jewelers has announced that its Swiss Watch Fair will be held for one day only in each of Hamilton's New Jersey locations: Friday, June 2, in Lawrenceville; and Saturday, June 3, in Princeton.

The selection of watch brands represented includes Omega, Raymond Weil, Ebel, Baume et Mercier, Cartier, Rolex, Patek Philippe, Hamilton, Tag Heuer, Brietling and Swiss Army Brand. Many watch companies will have a representative on hand to display expanded collections of their watches and to answer any questions.

Hamilton Jewelers is offering a free trade-in evaluation of watches when trading towards a new one. Also offered is six-month interest-free financing and a special complimentary gift with every watch purchased.

Many of the timepieces on display are not included in Hamilton Jewelers' everyday collections. There will be a free gift for attending and trying on a new watch.

Eleven Women Selected For YWCA TWIN Awards

Eleven area women — educators, entrepreneurs, scientists, CEOs, administrators and policymakers who through their achievements have helped to advance the standard for women in business — have been selected to receive the Princeton YWCA's Tribute to Women and Industry award on Thursday at the 12th Annual TWIN Awards Dinner at the Princeton Marriott Forrestal Village.

TWIN also recognizes the honorees' organizations that have made such success possible through a commitment to ongoing achievement by women in the business world. Helen L. Macioce, president and CEO of Merrill Lynch Bank and Trust Company and a 1992 TWIN honoree, is honorary chair of the 1995 TWIN Program.

The 1995 honorees are Simi Bakshi, executive vice president and chief financial officer, Visiting Nurse Association of the Delaware Valley; Marie T. "AFS and Princeton" Title of New Exhibit

American Field Service Intercultural Programs and Princeton University's Seeley G. Mudd Manuscript Library will present an exhibition titled "AFS and Princeton" through June 30.

"AFS and Princeton" tells the story of the bond between AFS and Princeton University, a relationship that began during World War I and continues today. The event also heralds the recent gift by AFS of its 300-volume Napoleonic history collection to the Rare Book Collections of the Firestone Library of Princeton University.

The exhibition features photographs, paintings, graphic illustrations, prints, posters, artifacts, publications and original documents from the permanent collection of AFS Archives and Museum in New York City. Phases in the organization's history represented in the exhibition include World War I, World War II and AFS student exchange programs of the past five decades.

A few noteworthy items include Waldo Pierce's oil portrait of A. Piatt Andrew, founder of AFS and 1893 Princeton graduate; memorial certificates from both world wars; and proclamations by military officials, including a speech by Field Marshall Sir Harold Alexander. Emphasis on AFS's associaton with the state of New Jersey further illustrates a shared heritage of global education, civic excellence and fellowship.

Camp Reunion Planned By Rambling Pines

Rambling Pines Day Camp will hold a 20th Reunion on Saturday from 1 to 4. The rain date is Sunday, same time.

Former campers, staff and friends are invited to come for an afternoon of rides, refreshments and entertainment. For further information call 466-1212.

Memorial Day Opening for Community Pool

The Princeton Community Pool, fresh from a face lift of the main pool, will open for the season on Saturday, May 27, for Memorial Day weekend. The pool will open for each subsequent weekend until June 14, when it will be open on its seven-day-a-week schedule. Weekend hours are from 11 to 8.

This spring, the 28-year-old complex received substantial renovation in the form of a new plaster bottom, new tile and coping stones. The bathrooms, showers and ramps have been refurbished or replaced to comply with ADA requirements.

Season tickets may be purchased by stopping into the Recreation Office, located on the driveway to the pool parking lot. Tickets may also be purchased in front of the pool for the first three weekends that it is in operation. The Recreation Office is open weekdays from 9 to 5. The on-site ticket sales operation will be in service from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Those persons wishing to buy their permits at poolside must bring proper identification with them. Permits may be purchased by check only and by bona fide Princeton residents. Season ticket costs are $190 for the family rate; $90 for individual adult 18 and up; $45 for a child; and $35 for seniors age 60 and up.

Princeton residents can also gain entrance to the pool by paying a daily admission fee. For residents, the fee is $5 a day for adults and $3 a day for children. Nonresident guests are allowed to come into the pool as long as they are accompanied by a Princeton resident. Guest rates are $5 for children and $6 for adults. The Recreation Department also offers discounted daily admission punch cards for pool members who wish to bring guests on a regular basis.

For additional information on the pool's general session or special programs offered at the pool, call the Recreation Office at 921-9480.

Princeton Residents Recall War in the Pacific As Time of Both Challenge and Camaraderie

As soldiers and civilians alike celebrated the surrender of Germany in the Spring of 1945, the United States' military machine began to focus its full attention on the war's second theater, the Pacific.

The war in the Pacific, like the war in Europe, had begun long before the U.S. became involved. Japan's encroachment into the territory of its East Asian neighbors was already well-advanced when the Imperial Navy's attack on Pearl Harbor in December of 1941 precipitated the United States' entry into the war.

American and Allied forces faced a foe who had had ample time to prepare his defenses, and who frequently appeared to prefer death to surrender.

As officers and enlisted men, from the skies above Tokyo to code-breaking huts in Australia, Princeton residents served as widely in the Pacific as they did in Europe.

Code Breaking

Tristam B. Johnson entered the Army in September of 1941, three months before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. Currently a first vice-president at the Princeton offices of Paine Webber, Mr. Johnson had trained with the Signal Corps in Fort Monmouth before volunteering to be among those sent to open an Army Intelligence Center in Australia in April of 1942.

His unit was charged with breaking the codes that disguised messages on Japanese radio channels. "Forward intercept units" would monitor the enemy's radio traffic and relay the messages back to Mr. Johnson's unit. "It was our responsibility to accumulate enough messages to find the inevitable mistake, or the break, or the gap - to try to break the Japanese code."

As a result of what Mr. Johnson calls "pure, concentrated, continuing effort," members of his unit were able to crack one of the codes used by the Japanese. "As a result, we learned of a Japanese ship that had been bombed in Hollandia Bay (in Dutch New Guinea) with a code book aboard."

American forces were preparing to land in lightly-defended Hollandia Bay, which would become General Douglas MacArthur's jumping-off point for the assault on the Philippines. "Preparatory to that," remembers Mr. Johnson, "the chief signal officer and other [members of MacArthur's staff] were in our office and we gave them a map to spot exactly where that ship had sunk."

As troops landed on shore, U.S. divers were combing the wreck of the boat for the metal box containing the code book. They discovered that prior to going down, the ship had burned.

"They brought the box up," says Mr. Johnson, "and [the code book] was char." Instead of giving up, Mr. Johnson's unit began experimenting with a chemical recovery process that enabled them to read the apparently destroyed code book. "We recovered 98% of the black char in that tin box," he recalls.

The Japanese were unaware that the Allied forces possessed their code book, which was immeasurably useful to the war effort. For example, the allies learned through intercepted messages that the Japanese were using hospital ships to transport healthy soldiers to the front.

The Allies did not want the Japanese to know that they had the code book, but at the same time, they needed to intercept the fresh troops before they could take their places in Japanese-held positions. "The Navy deliberately stopped a ship that they knew was carrying medical patients," says Mr. Johnson, "and then they stopped one [with troops] so that there was a camouflaging of the source of information."

Mr. Johnson's family was one of those that saw all of its young men go to war. Of his three brothers, one was a beach landing master with the Navy at Okinawa, one was a pilot in the 14th Air Force, and another was with Patton's army in Europe. He also had four cousins who served in the war. "We all came back," he remembers solemnly, "which was a rare occasion."

A Wonderful Camaraderie

It is tempting to think of the war as an event that affected only those directly participating in combat and those shipped overseas for other duties. Many who stayed behind, though, also served in one capacity or another.

"It did interrupt our lives," remembers author and Princeton resident Jean Silvester. Ms. Silvester served in Washington D.C. as a Coast Guard SPAR (SPAR being derived from the rather redundant phrase "Semper Paratus, Always Ready," which apparently pleased the acronym-happy military.)

"Almost all of us left college and did something about the war. Almost every guy was in the service; everybody in D.C. was in a uniform."

Ms. Silvester was in the Coast Guard from 1943-1946. As the war escalated and the Allied forces began to press the Germans and Japanese, the Coast Guard was called upon to manage the transportation of troops to landing sites. "Women had to take over office jobs so that men could be assigned to ships," she says.

Today, while the full integration of women into the military and disturbing incidences of sexual harassment are recurrent topics in the national media, Ms. Silvester remembers the war years in Washington as a time of "wonderful camaraderie." Far from being antagonistic, she says, "The guys were just great friends."

Kamikaze Attack

As the Japanese began to be beaten back in the Pacific, the Allied command recognized the need for an airbase close to mainland Japan. The volcanic-coral island of Okinawa, south-southwest of mainland Japan, seemed the perfect choice.

Princeton resident John McCreedy's infantry company landed on Okinawa in the late Spring of 1945, after the U.S. Marine Corps had suffered 45,000 casualties clearing the island of its Japanese defenders. "There were a few (Japanese) left," Mr. McCreedy remembers, "all at the other end of the island. The marines had done a good job."

When Corporal McCreedy's squad landed, they could see the destruction that the 82-day battle for the island had wrought on the landscape. Intense shelling by the Navy followed by weeks of fierce hand-to-hand combat had all but flattened the island. "Oh, it was like this," remembers Mr. McCreedy, running his hand through the air in a horizontal line.

Although the Japanese had nearly been driven from the island, their will to fight had not disappeared. "Kamikaze" pilots, on suicide missions, rammed their planes into American ships as they unloaded troops. "We had a lot of those," he remembers.

As Mr. McCreedy's unit was landing on the beach, he says, the ship next to theirs was struck by a kamikaze pilot. "It was like the plane had hit the ground," he says. "It didn't do much damage - the planes weren't that big."

After Okinawa, Mr. McCreedy was sent to Korea as part of the occupying force. He was to spend only a few more months in the Pacific; he received his discharge on Christmas Day, 1945.

"Sign Me Up, Cooch"

David Thompson graduated from Princeton University in 1939 and taught school until June of 1941, when, working on the assumption that he would be drafted anyhow, he enlisted in the Navy. Because he had enlisted, he was allowed to select the sort of training he wanted to receive; he asked to be sent to flight school.

He survived basic training and flight training, and in May of 1942 he received his commission and his wings. He was kept on at the training ground in Pensacola, Fla., where he served as an instrument instructor for some time. It was during his stretch in Pensacola that he married his wife Barbara, with whom he now lives in Monroe Village in Jamesburg.

NIGHT FIGHTER: Shown here in a picture taken during flight training in Florida, David Thompson would go on to win the Distinguished Flying Cross in the Pacific. He piloted a Grumman Hellcat fitted with radar for night fighting.

Eventually, he was sent to Norfolk, Va., where he came up for reassignment. It was an experience, he says with a bit of irony, "which shows how carefully personnel decisions are made in the military."

"I was sent into this room with this tired Lieutenant who said 'What do you want to do now, Thompson?' The obligatory answer was 'I want to be a fighter pilot,' so that's what I said," he remembers.

"Oh, everybody says that," replied the Lieutenant. "There are no openings in fighters - do you want to be a torpedo bomber or a dive bomber?"

"Now I had read all about Ensign Gay and the Battle of Midway," says Mr. Thompson, "and how he was the sole-survivor of his torpedo squadron. I didn't want any part of that, so I said I'd be a dive bomber."

Thinking the matter was closed, Mr. Thompson turned to leave the room. "As I was going out the door, this fellow says 'Hey Thompson...says here you were an instrument instructor for a year. How'd you like to be a night fighter?'

"I said ' sign me up, coach,'" Mr. Thompson remembers. "Then I went outside and told my wife that I was going to be a night fighter, and she burst into tears."

After training in Rhode Island, another stint as an instructor, and a struggle to gain assignment to an active squadron, Mr. Thompson was attached to Night Fighting Squadron 91 aboard the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Bon Homme Richard in May of 1945.

From June until the end of the war, Mr. Thompson's squadron flew patrols over the coast of Japan. He would eventually earn the Distinguished Flying Cross for a night-time raid on a Japanese airfield carried out in weather so severe that many of his friends did not return.

After Japan surrendered, Mr. Thompson was part of a formation that flew over the U.S.S. Missouri on September 2, during the signing of the peace treaty.

One of Mr. Thompson's most vivid memories is of flying his Grumman F-14 Hellcat over prisoner of war camps at the end of the war. His fighter didn't have the ability to drop large loads of supplies, but he tried to make the wait for liberation more bearable in a small way.

"I remember making a little home-made parachute out of towels and some strings. I tied up some chewing gum and chocolate bars and an overseas edition of Time Magazine, and hoped that I could drop it over the side of the plane and into the compound." It was a very moving sight, he recalls, to see the American POW's rushing out into the compound to see a U.S. plane fly overhead.

"It Wos o Firestorm"

Few Princeton residents can claim to have been as close to the heart of the enemy as Herb Hobler, who, among other things, is the founder of the Princeton-based WHWH radio station. As the navigator on a B-29 bomber, Mr. Hobler flew on missions over Tokyo itself.

"It was on March 9 (1945) that I took off on what would turn out to be the most devastating raid in the history of the world. It was worse, that one raid over Tokyo, than the two atomic bomb cities combined," he says.

"I went into a briefing on March 9," remembers Mr. Hobler, "along with 3,000 other men. The briefing was: we haven't had any results at high altitude, so tonight, you're going in at 5,000 feet." The flyers were surprised: the fully-pressurized B-29's typically flew at 25-30,000 feet.

The briefing continued: "You're going by yourself," the flyers were told, "no formation flying. You will carry no ammunition in your guns. We don't know if they have barrage balloons, but you'll find out when you get there."

"We all figured this was the end, for God's sake," recalls Mr. Hobler, who remembers returning to his quarters and writing a farewell letter to his wife, Randy, with whom he still lives in Princeton.

The raid turned out to be a stunning success. "Three-hundred airplanes destroyed 15 square miles of the center of Tokyo with 100,000 killed, 1 million made homeless, and 260,000 buildings destroyed," he says. "It was a firestorm."

U.S. bombers would continue to pound mainland Japan until the atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki forced the Japanese to capitulate. Mr. Hobler flew on many of the 17-hour-long missions over Japanese cities such as Kobe, Nagoya, and Osaka.

Returning Home

In 1945, soldiers, sailors, and airmen began filtering back into the states, trying to adjust to civilian life. Tristam Johnson remembers being unable to buy a white shirt, because demand was so great for anything that didn't resemble khaki.

Mr. Hobler returned to Princeton in September with his wife, whom he had married during the war, and completed his undergraduate studies. Their son was born the following March, becoming what Mr. Hobler laughingly calls "the first legally [recognized] child of a Princeton undergraduate at Tiger Inn."

Fighter pilot David Thompson's return from the Pacific was made through a maze of military red tape that finally ended right where it had begun: a train platform at Grand Central Station. One morning in 1945, he stepped off the platform in New York City, and found his wife waiting for him. "There was Barb," he remembers, "and she looked awfully good. We went off and had breakfast together, and that was the end of my war."

YWCA Pirouettes Team Finish 2nd in Sectionals

The Princeton YWCA Pirouettes Gymnastics Team placed second in the 1995 N.J-PA Sectional Championships held April 22 in York, Pa. Several team members captured first and second place honors in various events.

"The team showing was truly exceptional, since The Pirouettes, with six competitors, was the smallest team present. All other teams have 15 to 20 competitors," said Sherry Schwieghardt, YWCA gymnastics director.

All members of the team qualified for the sectional Championships. All team members also qualified for the YWCA Eastern Regional Gymnastics Championships in Rhode Island.

Jenny Agopsowicz, 10, of Hillsborough, captured a first place in All-Around and in uneven bars, a second place in floor exereise and third in balanee beam. Elizabeth Thompson, 10, of Princeton, placed first in halanee beam and floor exereises and second in All-Around end uneven hars. Natalia Deligne, 12, of Princeton, placed first in balance beam, third in uneven bars, fourth in All-Around, sixth in floor exereises and seventh in vault.

Diane Ilerbst, 13, of Dayton, captured first place in floor exercise, second in uneven bars, fifth place in All-Around and eighth in vault. Agopsowicz, Thompson, Deligne and Ilerbst, Level 5 gymnasts, are all first-year competitors.

Jessica Mislevy, 11, of Lawrenceville, the 1994 gold medalist at Level 5 in Sectional and Regional Championships, placed in the top three in every event at this year's Sectional Championships. She captured first place in the All-Around and uneven bars, second in balance beam and floor exercise and third in vault.

Kerry Shannon, 13, of Belle Mead, placed in the top 10 in every individual event in the competition. Shannon, who plaeed sixth at the 1994 Sectionals and seventh at the 1994 Regionals, picked up a third place in the vault and uneven hars, a fifth place in floor exercise and sixth plaee in All-Around.

The YWCA Pirouettes Gymnastics Team Competitive Training Program is open to girls 6 years of age and older by invitation. The program provides training in advanced gymnastics skills and danee within the YWCA Gymnastics Development Program and the USA Gymnastics Junior Olympic Program.

The programs offered include the Training Squad, a pre-competitive level whieh focuses on development of advanced skills, and the Pixie Team, whieh provides continuing skill development and an introduetion to gymnasties competition.

•1,000 Works Celebrating the Animal in Art•
Art, Artifacts & Carousel Figures at Auction
June 2 & 3 • New York City's Park Avenue Armory

The Tiger is featured in many works including those by famed muralist Charles R. Knight, creator of the massive tiger sculpture in Princeton's Palmer Square.

This landmark auction celebrating the role of the animal in art will be taking place June 2nd and 3rd at the magnificant Park Avenue Armory, New York City. For the first time, a massive grouping of important works of art from masters of past centuries will be combined and sold at auction with work by the finest artisits in the field of wildlife art today.

Paintings, sculptural works, rare prints, posters, decoys, folk art, porcelain figures (there is a large collection of Boehm and Royal Worcester figures being sold on behalf of the St. Louis Zoo) and a marvelous grouping of 70 vintage carousel animals combine in this unprecedented auction. Interestingly, many of the works to be sold feature tigers, an animal obviously near and dear to the hearts of Princetonians.

Importantly, the work of Charles R. Knight (1874-1953) will be featured. Knight, whose massive and wonderful murals adorn the walls of the American Museum of Natural History (NYC), the Field Museum (Chicago) and the Smithsonian will be represented by approximately twenty five works in the auction. In addition to the massive bronze tiger at Palmer Square, Knight's work can be seen in Princeton at the Princeton Museum (paintings) and other bronzes within the University.

This one thousand lot auction celebrating the animal in art is documented by a beautiful 268 page catalogue available from Guernsey's for $40 by mail. To order the book, pre-establish credit or wish information about absentee bidding, please contact Guernsey's

The All American Fete On Saturday, June 10

On Saturday, June 10, the 42nd annual June Fete, The All American Fete, will be held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., rain or shine, on the Washington Road playing fields of Princeton University in West Windsor.

A day of activities, auction, art exhibit and sale, flea market, continuous entertainment, and a variety of foods will entice the entire family while supporting the major fund-raising effort of the Auxiliary of the Medical Center at Princeton. The Auxiliary has pledged the June Fete proceeds toward funding radiology needs and patient monitoring equipment for the Emergency Room at the Medical Center.

FOOD, GLORIOUS FOOD: Cooking up refreshment plans for the All American Fete on June 10 are, from left, Marci Baumann, Hollie Clay, Barbara Meyers and Penny Gordon. Refreshment favorites, such as The Strawberry Patch, will return, with the addition this year of a Children's Food Court featuring Sno-Kones, cotton candy and ice cream.

Activities will begin Friday night, June 9, with "A Star Spangled Evening" dinner dance on the field from 6 to midnight, catered by Main Street Catering. It will feature the music of the Dwight Howard Orchestra for starlight dancing. Tickets are $60 (Patron $75), and invitations may be requested by calling 924-8375.

During this pre-Fete event, the auction tent will he open for preview and sealed bids beginning at 1 p.m. on June 9. The Lane of Shops and the Art Tent will be open to dinner dance attendees at 6 for preview sales, and The Docs of Dixie will play from 6 to 8.

Saturday, the festivities hegin at 8 a.m. for race participants in the Fete 10K Race. All pre-registrants will receive 10K T-shirts, and various awards will be given for winners in all age groups and other categories, including most creative hat.

A one-mile fun run for children ages 5 to 10 in an enclosed area begins at 9 a.m. Call Charlie Clark (908-281-0012) or Rich O'Brien (924-3544) to register for this year's 10K race.

The All American Fete will officially open at 9 a.m. The Auction Tent will feature furniture, silver, china, oriental rugs and finc art. Reg Blauvelt and Paula Muir of Lincoln Galleries will once again auction these items. Next to the Auction Tent will he Frugal Furniture, where used furniture may be purchased reasonably. For the true bargain seeker, Red, White, and Blue Bargains will feature household items, small appliances, bicycles, collectibles, sports equipment and more.

Made In America will offer used clothing for the whole family, and Star Spangle Buys will have an array of used books. The Lane of Shops will have many rcturning boutique and craft vendors featured along Main Street U.S.A. A breadth of high quality hand-crafted and manufactured goods new to the All American Fete will be found in Americana Alley. The Art Tent is always popular, as it includes the works of many local artists.

Children's Area

The Children's Area will have more than 20 activities for youngsters, including the annual favorite, The Diaper Derhy. Back by popular demand is Minnie the Elephant, who will offer rides throughout the day to children of all ages. New this year in the Children's Area will he a carousel ride. Sports Alley, always a favorite for children, teens and adults, will feature celebrity victims at the popular Dunk Tank.

The Car Raffle is back. A 1995 Saturn SL1, from Saturn of Bordentown, will be the grand prize. Volunteers will sell tickets on the field and pre-Fete at the Kiosk Plaza on Palmer Square. T-shirts, sweatshirts, and nightshirts designed to capture the all-American theme will be on sale at the field all day and pre-Fete in the Medical Center gift shop and area stores.

Lots to Eot

The Food Court will offer an enormous variety from which to choose. There will be seafood, chicken, baked goods, hot dogs, hamburgers, ice creams, pasta, sausage, beer, wine, soda, and, of course, the ever-popular, all-American strawberry shortcake at The Strawherry Patch.

The Garden Tent will offer perennials, annuals, orchids, herbs, vegetable plants, and garden statuary. Gardening experts will be on hand to assist with choices. A holding tent will be available to store early purchases.

All-Day Entertainment

Entertainment will be continuous throughout the day in three locations. Under the Sky, outdoor staging, will feature many local dance groups, singing groups, story tellers, bands, clowns, and athletes. The Great American Dream, in the dance tent, will host The Battle of the Bands and original music by John McVey, Maggi Hill, and the J Walkers.

The Heart and Soul of America will provide rhythm and blues, including Riverside Ramblers and Rob Siez and Jim Rigel.

Parking on the field will be available for $3 per car, with additional parking on designated Princeton University lots and specific locations around town. There will be shuttle bus service from these lots to the Fete field for $1 per person; children under 12 are free.

The All American Fete is dedicated to the beauty of America and the American way of life.

If Two Very Small Towns Consolidate, A Moderately Small Town Will Result

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am writing in response to a letter headlined "Do Not Allow Renters a Voice on Consolidation" [TOWN TOPICS, March 8] which argued that renters do not pay taxes. I would like to point out that renters do indeed pay taxes, although they pay them in an indirect way. Any landlord who did not include taxes in deciding how much rent to charge would not be in business for very long. Also, the State of New Jersey obviously believes that renters pay taxes because it allows renters to apply for a Homestead Property Tax Rebate as part of each income tax return.

Although consolidation has been voted down in the past, I hope that residents of both the Borough and Township will be willing to at least study the present situation to see whether consolidation might be a benefit now. Conditions do change, nothing is static and it seems to me that thoughtful, concerned citizens should always be prepared to look for better ways to govern themselves.

After all, we're talking about two very small towns which, if they decided to join forces, would form one moderately small town. As I drive around town, I find that I often don't know where the dividing lines are between the Borough and Township. I'll bet that there are a lot of other people in town who don't know where all of them are either.

Pedestrian Hit by Car on Thursday Needs to Hear from Driver Involved

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I was hit head on, on the left knee and landed on the hood of a car. This occurred on Thursday, May 11, between 2:30 and 3 p.m. as I was crossing Library Place at the corner on my way into town.

Will the woman driving a light gray car exiting south onto Route 206 from Library Place please contact me.

I am a senior citizen and had two little white dogs on leashes. The accident was more serious than I realized.

The driver who hit me did not get out of her car, but she did offer to take me to the hospital. At that time I refused her offer as I could walk on the leg.

No phone numbers or names were exchanged.

Please call me at (609) 924-5819.

ASK THE CANDIDATE

"Mark, how do zoning regulations affect the Borough?"

Scott Roberto, Borough business owner.

Scott, our zoning regulations affect every property and every property owner in the Borough. They effect what you will pay in taxes, the character of your neighborhood, how attractive the Borough is to present and future businesses and property owners, and what you can and can't use the property you own for.

- Our zoning regulations are critical to the future of the Borough.
- Zoning regulations direct what type of buildings can be built where and what type of activities a building can be used for in different sections of thc Borough.
- The character of entire neighborhoods are decided by our zoning regulations.
- The future of our central business district is largely decided by our zoning regulations.
- Zoning is not the most exciting topic, but it is extremely important to all our futurcs. I am actively involvcd in a review of our zoning rcgulations right now.
- This review will be looking at how we protect our residential neighborhoods whilc encouraging continued growth in our business districts.
- Where will future growth of business, educational and residcntial uses occur and to what degree will they occur; these are the issues I am working on.
- Zoning regulations will have an effect on what properties stay on the tax rolls and which will come off the tax rolls.
- Zoning regulations decide questions such as can you build a garage on your residential property or can you put a certain size and type of sign on your commercial building.
- How you apply for and are given approvals to a zoning request are outlined in these regulations.
- My thoughts going into this review of zoning regulations are how do we keep the process as simple and as inexpensive as possible? How do we increase the authority of the zoning officer to grant administrative waivers? Which rcquests shouldn't require you to go in front of a review board? How do we protect the Borough's future?

I am willing to work on these issues. I am willing and committed to protecting the Borough's future. I am willing to push these types of discussions and to bring them to a resolution. I want you to know of these discussions and I want you to be part of the decision process. As your mayor I want to provide clear direction and strong leadership for today and tomorrow.

Each week between now and the June 6th primary I will explain my position on an issue that faces the Borough through these columns. Any resident that has a question on what I think should feel free to call my campaign headquarters at 683-9328; or write to me at Freda for Mayor, PO Box 7433 Princeton, NJ 08543-7433; or contact me through electronic mail at MEFREDA@AOL.COM.

I am willing to meet with any individual or any group to discuss the issues in a clear and concise manner. Questions that residents may want to see addressed in this column are invited.

Education Foundation Sets First Fund Raiser

The board of trustees of the Princeton Education Foundation (PEF) announced that its first fund-raising event will be held on Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. at Maclean House, 73 Nassau Street. Dr. Marcia Bossart, superintendent of the Princeton Regional Schools, and George Gallup, co-chairman of the Gallup Organization, will be the guests of honor at a reception where the first PEF mini-grants to teachers will be awarded. The public is invited to attend; cost is $25 per person.

The Princeton Education Foundation is an independent, private nonprofit organization formed in 1994 by a group of community volunteers to raise private funds for the Princeton Regional Schools. Its mission is to enhance the quality of the educational experience for students and prospective students of the Princeton Schools through private support of projects and programs. Donations are tax deductible.

In March of this year, the PEF distributed applications to each of Princeton's six schools, seeking innovative project ideas which cannot be supported through the school district's regular budget. The Foundation received 23 applications, and will award five mini-grants of $250 each at the reception on Sunday.

"The Princeton Education Foundation was formed to bring private money into the Princeton schools," said Rita Chait, the group's president. "Now that the state's support for our schools is declining, private support is increasingly important for Princeton parents and teachers trying to build on the strengths of our schools."

The Princeton Education Foundation assists only projects and activities which are not covered under the budget of the Princeton Regional Schools.

EAST OF THE BOSPORUS
ORIENTAL RUGS
We continue to receive carefully selected pile rugs and runners produced by the Ersari/Turkmen and Tibetan Weaving Projects. These projects are supported by Cultural Survival, a human rights organization located in Cambridge, MA.
The rugs are handwoven by adult weavers using vegetal dyes and traditional 19th Century designs and colors. Articles in the Oriental Rug review have praised their overall quality.
"East of the Bosporus" also carries antique rugs, flatweaves, and other textiles from many areas in the Middle East and Asia.
To see our stock of rugs and for more information contact:

Senior Resource Center Opens Fund Drive

Following a succesful theater benefit at McCarter Theatre in March, the Princeton Senior Resource Center has begun a mail appeal for the remainder of the funds it needs to cover program and service expenses.

The Center depends on private donations for 50 percent of its budget. Timed to coincide with Older Americans Month and Senior Citizens Week, the Center would like to make the community aware of the needs of its fast growing population of citizens over 60 years old — and the activities and services available to them.

The Senior Resource Center is a clearing house for referral and a crisis intervention center. It also runs intellectually stimulating programs, the latest of which is the Beginners Computer Class. The Center organizes the volunteer Homefriends Program of visits to the homebound and a host of other activities and services useful to any and all senior citizens.

For further information or to make a donation, call the Senior Resource Center at 924-7108.

THE WINNER GETS A PLAQUE: Chapin School eighth grader Melissa Desai of Princeton Junction was the overall winner in the annual Curriculum Fair that is open to 6th, 7th and 8th grade students. She won for a project on fossils. Students prepare a research paper and make a three-dimensional display in a topic in science or social studies.

Witherspoon Lodge Anniversary Dance

Witherspoon Lodge No. 178 and its auxiliary, Rising-Sun Temple No. 119 will celebrate 83 years as a fraternal organization in Princeton. A dance will be held at the VFW Hall, Dutch Neck Road, off Route 130 in Hightstown. The public is invited.

The lodge was formed in 1912 in Princeton to bring together men who were concerned about each other, their families and their community. Special emphasis has been placed over the years in services to the less fortunate and to children. The lodge maintains picnic grounds in South Brunswick Township for the use of any interested youth groups, or any organizations. Members donate annually to the March of Dimes, the Cancer Society and other charitable organizations.

As a part of the New Jersey State Association of the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World IBPOEW, and through the Grand Lodge, an annual scholarship is awarded to the State's oratorical contest winner.

Young Leadership Division of Princeton Area UJA/Federation is an active organization of individuals between 25 and 45 years old. The group is concerned and involved with the Jewish community locally and abroad. Call the Federation office at 243-9440 for more information or to make a reservation.

The public is invited to participate in a trip to the Newark Museum sponsored by The Women's College Club of Princeton. It will take place on Thursday, June 15. Buses will leave the Princeton Shopping Center at 10 a.m. and return at 5 p.m. Cost is $35 per person.

There will be a box lunch at the Englehard Court

For reservations, call Roberta Brand, 243-9364.

Boy Scout Troop 43 will hold its annual "Scouting for Treasure" flea market on Saturday from 1 to 4:30 p.m. at the Princeton High School parking lot on Walnut Lane. Rain date is June 3.

The Princeton Freewheelers has joined New Jersey's Adopt-A-Highway program by adopting two miles of Route 206 where members of the group will remove litter from along the highway.

On Wednesday, May 31 at 8 p.m., the Princeton PC Users' Group will meet in the main building of Educational Testing Service at the corner of Rosedale and Carter roads. The evening's focus will either be on "Terminal Ware 2.0" from Nexxus (protocols, etc.) or Socket Communications' "Page Messaging System."

All telecommunication enthusiasts are invited. For more information call Perry Weaver, 275-8220.

The Princeton chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet at the Nassau Club on Thursday. A luncheon at 11:30 will be followed by a brief Service of Remembrance, the annual meeting of the members of the chapter, and the election of new officers.

For reservations, call (908) 438-0827.

On Monday at 3 p.m., The Women's College Club of Princeton, will hold a scholarship girls' tea at the home of Mary Hoffman, 3 Orchard Lane, Lawrenceville.

The scholarship recipients will be introduced and honored. All Club members are invited.

Seven directors, including four who are new to the board, were elected unanimously by members present at the annual meeting of the Friends of Princeton Open Space held Sunday, April 30, at Mountain Lakes House.

The four new directors include Barbara B. Bromley, who is filling out the remaining year of an unexpired term. New directors elected to full three-year terms are Kathleen M. Bagley, Winton H. Manning and John H. Rassweiler.

Directors reelected to their second terms on the board are Karen I. Cotton, Ann T. Reed and Stephen P. Hubbell.

The new board of the Princeton Area Junior Woman's Club has been elected and installed for the club year running from April 1, 1995 through March 31, 1996. The incoming board members were installed by Princeton Women's Club member Ginny Stoops, who is serving as club advisor to the PAJWC.

Presiding as club president for a second term is Margaret Storrs-Fox; first vice president/membership duties fall to Lisa Tobin; Stacey Simon is serving as second vice president/ways and means; Kathy Thomas is taking over the office of treasurer; Beth Deitchman is the corresponding secretary, and Nancy Ziedonis is acting as the club's recording secretary.

Pilobolus Dance Theatre In Benefit Performance

Young Audiences of New Jersey will present Pilobolus Dance Theatre, one of America's most popular modern dance troupes, in a benefit performance on Saturday at 9 p.m. at the Allan P. Kirby Arts Center of The Lawrenceville School.

Pilobolus is named, with characteristic playfulness, for a light-seeking mushroom. The troupe emerged from a Dartmouth College dance class in 1971. Since then, Pilobolus has been actively extending the limits of human motion to forge a new vision of modern dance. Twenty years of experimentation in collaborative choreography have earned the company international acclaim for its witty, free-spirited, breathtakingly gymnastic programs.

HERE FOR FUND-RAISER: The Pilobolus Dance Theatre will give a benefit performance for Young Audiences of New Jersey Saturday at 9 p.m. in the Kirby Arts Center at The Lawrenceville School. The company is known for its innovative choreography and acrobatic dancers.

Young Audiences of New Jersey is one of the 32 chapters of the nation's leading arts-in-education organization. Dedicated to establishing the arts as an essential part of young people's education, Young Audiences and its roster of professional artists develop performances, classroom workshops, and arts residencies for children and make them available to schools, libraries, and community organizations across the state. Last year more than 300,000 young people in every New Jersey county experienced the arts with Young Audiences.

Tickets for the performance are available at $150 and $75, which includes dinner and a post-performance reception, or $30 for adults and $15 for students. For more information call 683-7973, Monday through Friday, between the hours of 9 and 1.

30th Annual Show Set By Radio Humorist

Radio station WPRB, 103.3 FM will present the 30th annual performance of humorist Jean Shepherd Friday, May 26, at 8:30 p.m. in Richardson Auditorium. Reserved tickets are available for $16 each, and may be purchased by credit card from the Richardson box office, 258-5000, between noon and 6 Monday through Friday.

Mr. Shepherd is best known for his screenplay and narration to the 1983 film, A Christmas Story. He also developed a large following during his 22 years as a weekly radio host on WWOR, New York. During his radio shows, his monologues varied from nostalgic tales of his childhood in a small Indiana town, to personal experiences in the US Army, to pink flamingos glimpsed along Route 22. Many consider Mr. Shepherd "America's foremost living humorist," and a "modern day Mark Twain."

Mr. Shepherd has also written numerous books and television movies, and is now working on a number of cinematic projects, including continued filming of A Summer Story, the sequel to A Christmas Story..

For more information, call the WPRB offices at 258-3655.

Bucks Co. Playhouse To Stage "Dracula"

Dracula, a play based on the original Bram Stoker novel, is set to run on the Bucks County Playhouse stage from May 17 through 28.

The plot of Dracula chronicles the story of Lucy Seward, daughter of the physician in charge of a sanatorium near London, who becomes mysteriously anemic. Dr. Van Helsing, a specialist in obscure diseases, suspects a vampire — according to legend, an ugly soul who roams the earth at night sustaining earthly life by sucking the blood of approachable victims. Van Helsing searches for the Count hoping to end his reign of terror.

"Charlotte's Web" Next At The Peddie School

Theatreworks/USA will present Charlotte's Web Saturday at 2 in the Richard L. Swig Arts Center at the Peddie School, Main Street, Hightstown.

Charlotte's Web has been adapted by Joseph Robinette from the children's book of the same title by E.B. White. Mr. Robinette is a professor of speech and theatre at Rowan College and the author or co-author of 24 published plays and musicals. He collaborated with E.B. White on the authorized stage version of Charlotte's Web, the story of the friendship between a pig named Wilbur and a little gray spider named Charlotte.

Admission is $8 and all seats are reserved. For ticket reservations or information call 490-7550.

AT OFF-BROADSTREET THEATER: June Connerton portrays stern Grandma Kurnitz in "Lost In Yonkers" playing at Off-Broadstreet Theatre in Hopewell through June 2. Neil Simon's Tony and Pulitzer Prize winning play is about two boys sent to live with their ironhanded grandmother and their off-center Aunt Bella. Performances are on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 and Sundays at 2. Doors open for dessert one hour before curtain.

Boheme Opera Staging "Tosca" This Weekend

Boheme Opera will perform Puccini's Tosca Friday at 8 and Sunday at 3 at Villa Victoria Academy Theatre, Route 29, Trenton.

The opera, which concludes Boheme's sixth consecutive season, will be conducted by Artistic Director Joseph Pucciatti and directed by Marciem Bazell. Mr. Pucciatti will give a free pre-curtain talk an hour before each performance.

Tickets are $15, $25 and $35 and are available through the McCarter Theatre box office by calling 683-8000.

"Rosencrantz" Revived For Princeton Reunions

Theatre Intime will revive its February-March production of Tom Stoppard's Tony Award-winning play Rosencrantz and Guidenstern Are Dead for Princeton University Reunions. Performances will be on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, May 24, 25 and 26 at 8 each evening.

Directed by A. Michael Signer '95, the production was Theatre Intime's most successful two-weekend show in the last five years. The production had five sold-out houses and 175 people were on the wait list on closing night. Many local residents, professors and students were unable to obtain seats, and this weighed heavily in Intime's decision to bring Rosencrantz back for a second showing.

Audiences should anticipate an evening of high-energy theatre as the bumbling Rosencrantz (Greg Bratman, Class of '97) and Guildenstern (Marc Rosen '98) are alternately trampled by raggedy, oversexed Tragedians — led by the larger-than-life Player (Damian Long '98) — and the majestic cast of Hamlet.

Tickets are $10 for general admission, $8 for senior citizens, faculty and staff, and $5 for students. For information or reservations call Theatre Intime at 258-4950.

A Musical "Goldilocks" At the Kelsey Theatre

Kaleidoscope Theatre will present a musical production of Goldilocks and the Three Bears on Saturday, May 27 at 2 and 4 p.m., at Kelsey Theatre, Mercer County Community College, 1200 Old Trenton Road, West Windsor.

This musical fairy tale tells the familiar story of the little girl with the golden curls who encounters three furry friends who, with the helpful participation of the audience, teach her the importance of being kind to others. Written by David G. Payton, the show features songs, dance and humor, along with healthy doses of audience participation.

The Rhode Island-based Kaleidoscope Theatre is known for presenting plays that help children cope with such problems as divorce, drugs, friendship, retardation, and inclusion.

Tickets cost $7 and may be ordered by calling 584-9444.

Stony Brook Coffeehouse To Feature 3 Performers

Three singers and songwriters will be featured at the Stony Brook Coffeehouse Saturday at 8.

Sharing the spotlight are David Berger of Franklin Park, Gregg Cagno of Hoboken, and Tanya Oznowich of Yardley, Pa. This concert exemplifies the richness of the growing folk scene.

Coffeehouses featuring fresh acoustic music are held monthly at the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, usually on the fourth Saturday. Doors open at 7:30, with music beginning at 8. Space is limited and early arrival is suggested. Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for children. Refreshments are available and patrons are asked to bring their own cup to save a tree.

For information, call the education office, 737-7592.

Dutch Wind Ensemble In Concert with Singer

The Composers' Ensemble at Princeton will present the Dutch contemporary wind orchestra Orkest de Volharding, conducted by Jurjen Hempel, Monday at 8 in Richardson Auditorium. Singer Astrid Seriese will appear as assisting artist.

The program will include M Is for Man, Music and Mozart and Y Despues by Louis Andriessen; Tango by Igor Stravinsky (arranged by Louis Andriessen); Julia Wolfe's Arsenal of Democracy; Henk van der Meulen's Bending the Bone; and Steve Martland's Donce Works.

Tickets, priced at $10; students with Princeton University I.D., free; are available through the Richardson Auditorium box office, 258-5000.

Pianist Is Featured At Sunday Musicale

Beth Chen will play Brahms and Mussorgsky for the Steinway Society Musicale on Sunday at 5 at the home of Mari Molenaar and Warren Fioretti. The musicale is open to the public; however a donation of $10 for the scholarship fund is requested. For an invitation, call 951-9553.

A native of Taiwan, Ms. Chen captured first place there in a piano competition. She came to the United States, first to California in an exchange program and then to Boston University College of Music, where she was accepted with a full scholarship. She toured between her bachelor and master's degree work.

Certified in instrumental as well as vocal instruction, she taught first in New York and later in Marlboro, N. J. After retiring from teaching in public school, Ms. Chen began private instruction which she continues today.

Trenton Youth Orchestra At the State Museum

Sit-Down, Take-out & Catering Are Featured at Flavors Cafe

In the three years since it opened, Flavors Cafe & Creative Catering has become a very popular place. The Pennington restaurant at 147-149 West Delaware Avenue, draws customers from all over the area, including Princeton and Trenton.

"A guy just called from Trenton the other day, and said he was on his way, and to put two veggie burgers on the grill," says co-owner Beverly Mills, with a smile. "We get people from all over, and they seem to like everything."

Adds co-owner Joyce Fousek: "We try hard to make people feel comfortable. We have a nice relaxed atmosphere, as well as great food, and we're fun! We both cook, and in the morning, Bev also does waitressing, and the customers all enjoy seeing her. She's a lot of fun."

Flavors Cafe is open for breakfast and lunch, both sit-down and take-out, and fresh, quality food, with an emphasis on flavor, is a big attraction.

"The flavor and appearance of our food are very special, and we enhance and embellish all our recipes with our own touches," explains Ms. Mills.

"Knowing the right amount of ingredients is important for achieving the flavor we want," adds Ms. Fousek. "Also, the menu has evolved as we have learned about our customers' tastes. We are also considering serving Friday night dinner because people have expressed interest in this."

More Health-conscious

Culinary experience is a key factor in both Ms. Mills and Ms. Fousek's backgrounds. They both learned about the pleasures and challenges of cooking when they were children, and came to enjoy a variety of dishes.

"I can remember from an early age, my mother was interested in a lot of different foods. She introduced me to Lobster Newburg when I was very young," recalls Ms. Mills.

IT'S NEW
To Us

"I think the community, including Princeton, is open to trying different ethnic cuisines, and we do offer a variety," reports Ms. Fousek.

"People are more health-conscious now," she adds. "We roast our own turkey, we have a lot of vegetarian dishes, and I think we excel in our salad and sandwich combinations."

"Also, our Cuban black bean soup is very popular," reports Ms. Mills, "and so is the veggie burger. It is made with brown rice, mushrooms, onions, oats, mozzarella, cottage, and cheddar cheese, egg whites, and bulgar wheat. It has 190 calories and three grams of fat, tastes great, and people really like it."

TOWN TOPICS IS PRINTED entirely on recycled paper

FULL-TIME FLAVORS: "Our specialty is that we don't have just one kind of food. We have a lot of different cuisines, from soul food and Indian to Asian, Mexican and American. Also, everything is fresh and homemade from scratch." Beverly Mills (left) and Joyce Fousek, owners of Flavors Cafe & Creative Catering at 147-149 West Delaware Avenue in Pennington, enjoy creating a variety of delicious dishes for their customers.

"Our 3-Salad Sampler is also very popular," notes Ms. Fousek. "Customers can choose three different salads, such as broccoli, bacon and cheddar cheese, smoked turkey waldorf, grilled London broil with fava beans and rice, Jamaican salad, broccoli with pesto mayonnaise, or shrimp and pasta salad."

Raspberry Muffin Day

Favorite sandwiches include turkey club, tuna salad, roast beef, and a veggie sandwich on whole grain bread with herbs and cream cheese, cucumber, carrots, and lettuce.

A very popular hot entree is the grilled chicken poulardes, marinated in fresh herbs.

Flavors Cafe also offers weekly specials. For example: Thursday is a big day for scones, and Friday is blueberry or raspberry muffin day.

Such delicious desserts as lemon bars, brownies, double chocolate cookies, and cheeseecake are always favorites, and "Our oatmeal raisin cookies are the best in the world — she said modestly!" laughs Ms. Fousek.

The restaurant has also recently started serving a full sit-down breakfast, and the owners report that people come as early as 6 a.m.

"We offer a complete breakfast, including eggs, waffles, and pancakes," says Ms. Mills. "We also have a special omelet and special pancake every day."

In addition, the third Sunday of the month, the restaurant offers a Jazz Brunch, with two sittings: 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 1 to 3.

"It's an all-you-can-eat buffet, and people often like to bring their own wine, too. We have local jazz performers, and this is very popular. We'll have one this Sunday."

Full-service catering is also provided by Flavors Cafe. "It's across the board," says Ms. Fousek. "We can do any size and type of occasion from casual picnics to formal weddings, and for two to 200 or more people, and any kind of food. We can furnish everything."

"We also do all the food for Johnson & Johnson's corporate airline," notes Ms. Mills, "and we have catered for a variety of people, from B.B. King to George Bush!"

Prices at the restaurant include breakfast omelets from $3.50, steak and eggs $6.75. A roast turkey sandwich is $3.95, and veggie burger $4.25.

"We really like seeing people enjoy our food," says Ms. Fousek. "There is immediate gratification in this work."

"Seeing the business grow is satisfying," adds Ms. Mills. "The customer response has been great, and the challenge is in keeping the level of quality consistent. It's important to us that we offer the best service and food we can.

"Come in and try us out, and see for yourself!"

Flavors Cafe also has patio seating outside, and is open Monday through Friday 6 a.m. to 3 p.m., Saturday 7 to 3, and Sunday 8 to 12.

CUSTOM WORK: "I'm a full service family jeweler. I offer fine quality jewelry, and also watch and jewelry repair. I also custom-design many pieces, especially rings and pendants." Reinhard Parnitzke, owner of Reinhard's Jewelers in Princeton North Shopping Center on Route 206, enjoys providing customers with attentive service and quality work.

Fine Jewelry & Custom Design Specialty of Reinhard's Jewelers

"This shopping center has been a good location. It has convenient parking, and is easy to get to. I think I have built up a good reputation. I have a lot of customers and many regulars. I'm very pleased, and now this new location is an even better spot. It's right on the corner."

Reinhard Parnitzke, owner of Reinhard's Jewelers, located in Princeton North Shopping Center on Route 206, is referring to his move three weeks ago to a new location, just a few doors down from his original store.

"My customers tell me they like this even better," he reports. "People come from all over. Sometimes even when they have moved, they come in to see me when they are in town. People say 'I'm so happy we have a good jeweler here.' I also try very hard to have a nice atmosphere."

He certainly succeeds. The shop is inviting, with a friendly, congenial ambiance, which makes everyone feel at home. Reinhard has even added an aquarium, filled with brightly colored freshwater fish, which never fails to attract attention.

"I really enjoy having the fish," he says. "People always look at them, and the kids especially love to watch them."

"I try to please people," he adds. "From making the kind of jewelry or repair they want, to offering a nice atmosphere. The business has gone smoothly. I try very hard to be an upfront, honest person, and I think people like this about me. I am always honest with customers about the work they want done, and I tell them if a job is worth doing or not."

My End Reward

Fine quality jewelry, as well as jewelry repair and design work, are available at Reinhard's, and he especially enjoys making custom pieces. He has a large selection of pictures of his work to show people.

"People like unusual pieces, something that is crafted differently," he explains. "I have a lot of unfinished pieces, so people can choose the stone and the style. Customize it to their own taste. It's very creative work, and I love it.

"After I have finished making a piece, it's wonderful to see the customer's eyes light up. It's my end reward."

It's also very painstaking work, and Reinhard often works from 8:30 a.m. to midnight, creating his designs while the store is closed.

A full selection of quality jewelry is available, including gold, sterling silver, pearls, and precious stones. In addition, Reinhard offers Pulsar and Timex watches, a wide choice of clocks, and jewelry boxes.

With graduations, weddings, and Father's Day coming up, watches and clocks are popular items, reports Reinhard.

"I also have a selection of men's rings, and I customize a lot of rings for men, too, as well as wedding and engagement rings," he adds.

Custom Design & Repair

Reinhard, who was born in Germany, came to the U.S. when he was 13, and grew up in Kentucky, later moving to Cincinnati, Ohio.

"I've been in the jewelry business since 1970, and had my own business since 1979," he says. "My specialty is custom design, and also watch and jewelry repair."

Jewelry repair includes sizing, cleaning, and changing settings of old pieces, he explains. "Repairs can sometimes only take an hour, or maybe up to two days," he adds. "Everything is done right here on the premises, and customers can see my workshop. Repairs are $6 and up."

Jewelry prices are anywhere from $17 and $20 up to thousands of dollars, with $200 an average price.

Clocks of all sizes and styles, including school house, range from $40 to $300.

"I look forward to being part of the community for a long time, and I try to be an outstanding citizen," says Reinhard. "I feel I've found a nice home and good people. I'm building the store, and planning to be here a lot of years."

Reinhard's Jewelers is open Monday through Friday 10 to 7, Saturday until 5, and Sunday 1:30 to 5. 924-9400.

ART

"EZEKIEL'S VISION," a painting by Eva Short, is included in an exhibit of Dr. Short's work — to coincide with her 80th birthday — at the Princeton Jewish Center through June 12.

Exhibits

The works of t2 students from Stuart Country Day School will hang in the Mercer Medical Center Private Schools Art Exhibit through May 26. Seniors Elizabeth Branon, Sophie de Lignerolles, Courtney Hodock, Eliza Hoover and Rachel Lears, along with juniors Vanessa Chen, Gia Fruscione, Loren Hassler, Susan Hom and Denise Ramzy, and sophomores Kate Midura and Antoinette Vlahakis are students of Stuart art teachers Madelaine Shellaby and Mary Vaughan.

The works of Stuart Country Day School students Rachel Lears, Susan Hom, Alyson Crow, Courtney Hodock and Jane Weiner, photography students of art teacher Madelaine Shellaby, will hang in the Phillips Mill Photographic Exhibition in New Hope, Pa., a competitive juried show acclaimed as a national event in the photo field. The exhibition will be open to the public daily from May 21 through June t1. The opening reception will be held on Saturday from 4 to 9.

"A Song in My Art," a student art show, pre-school through grade 12, will be on exhibit at the Norbert Considine Gallery at Stuart Country Day School through June t.

This is an annual exhibit featuring one piece of art from each student, pre-school through grade t2, who took art during the school year.

Gallery hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. The exhibition is free and open to the public.

Paintings by Eric Fowler will be exhibited at Artworks, Everett Alley, Trenton, from May 2t to June 24.

The extensive series depicts Dante Alighieri's epic 14th-century allegorical poem, Inferno.

Mr. Fowler has received the New Jersey State Council on the Arts Distinguished Artist Grant. This exhibit represents his most significant work over the past five years.

He teaches at Moore College of Art and Design in Philadelphia.

His work has been exhibited in more than 200 juried shows and is included in the permanent State of New Jersey collection.

Sophia Tarassov will exhibit a series of paintings titled "Resistance, Conformity and Sausage Dreams" at the South Brunswick Public Library through June t6. The library is located on Kingston Lane in Monmouth Junction and is open Monday through Thursday, t0 to 9, Friday, 12 to 6, Saturday, 10 to 5 and Sunday, 1 to 5.

An exhibit featuring work by Edward Ward will open in the dining room of the Medical Center at Princeton on Friday at 4 p.m. with a wine and cheese reception. The show will run until July 20. Hours for viewing are 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily.

Mr. Ward's career began in fine arts printing as an apprentice in t968. He did postgraduate work in photography, industrial arts, and printmaking, and worked for three years as an art teacher.

A Call for Crafters

Artisans and crafters are invited to submit applications for the 22nd annual Princeton YWCA Crafters' Marketplace to be held Saturday and Sunday, November 18 and 19 at the John Witherspoon Middle School.

This quality, juried show benefits the Princeton YWCA Pearl Bates Scholarship Fund. Some t20 crafters will be selected to participate. In the past, more than 2,500 people have attended, and the show is one of the most popular in the area.

Crafters' applications must be postmarked no later than July 15. A late fee is charged. For more information and/or application forms please call Karen Knudson at 497-0699 or the Princeton YWCA, 497-2100.

Tiger Lacrosse Teams Advance in NCAA Tournaments; Softball Heading into Regionals Here This Weekend

This time of year in Princeton sports is in its very essence not for the faint of heart. One goal or one run can prove the difference between continuing on the path towards a national championship or turning back empty-handed.

Both of the lacrosse teams and the softball team didn't make it any less nerve-racking for themselves or their fans, either. All three found themselves on the brink of elimination from NCAA competition at some point during the weekend, but all three survived their scares to advance in their respective national tournaments.

The team many expected to be heading far away from

SPORTS

Princeton for its attempt at NCAA glory actually will be the only Tiger squad playing at home this weekend. The 22nd-ranked softball team (46-11 overall, 12-0 Ivy League) hosts its four-game NCAA regional this Friday through Sunday. (Game times were unavailable when Town Topics went to press.) The victor in this weekend's double-elimination format will advance to the College World Series May 25 through 29 in Oklahoma City, Okla.

The Tigers earned their NCAA berth by virtue of a play-in victory over Northeast Conference champion Rider, but the path was by no means easy. Princeton took the first game of the best-of-three series against the Broncs, 7-2, Thursday

HER HOMER LED THE WAY: Tiger softball player Jen Babik led off the third and decisive game between Princeton and Rider with a home run Saturday. Princeton won 8-0, and will host the Northeast Regionals of the NCAA tournament this weekend.

but the Tigers dropped the nightcap, 2-0, to send the series into a decisive third game Friday.

With its season on the line, though, Princeton buckled down and wasted little time in disposing of the Broncs. In the Tigers' first at-bat of the game, senior shortstop Jen Babik blasted a two-and-two pitch over the left field fence for her Princeton-record 224th career hit and for what would prove to be the series-winning run.

Princeton added a run in the second inning, five in the third and one more in the fourth, but Babik's one run was all that was necessary as sophomore pitcher Maureen Davies (24-5) hurled the complete game, allowing just two hits and no runs. Davies earned both Tiger wins on the weekend to surpass Karen Drill '94's record for most wins in a single season.

The Tigers, who now hold the record for most wins in a season by any Princeton varsity sport, face some familiar competition in the NCAA regional. The top-seeded Tigers host Big East champion and No. 2 seed Connecticut as well as No. 3 Massachusetts and No. 4 Hofstra, who earned their bids by winning play-in rounds. Thus the field is the same as at the April 29-30 Princeton Invitational.

Princeton will face perhaps its toughest battle in its first game, in which the Tigers battle Hofstra, winners of all three contests between the two this season. Princeton possesses a 3-1 advantage over the Huskies in 1995, however, and won its only game of the season against the Minutewomen.

Eight Princeton players were named to the All-Ivy League first team and the other three regular starters made the second team as the Tigers dominated the 1995 All-Ivy roster. Sophomore first baseman Mandy Pfeiffer, who led the league in batting average, hits, doubles and RBIs, was chosen as Ivy League Player of the Year. Senior pitcher Kristi Jelinek, who went 6-0 in league competition with a .60 earned run average, took Pitcher of the Year honors.

Babik was voted to the first team for the third consecutive time, only the seventh player in league history to cull that honor. Jelinek, Pfeiffer and sophomore third baseman Michelle Morale were unanimous selections.

Men Rally for Win

The men's lacrosse team (11-3), playing in its first first-round NCAA game since 1990, looked quite unfamiliar in that position during the first half of Saturday's game against unseeded Massachusetts. In fact, the Tigers actually trailed at halftime, 4-3, and the Minutemen tied the game at five with eight minutes and 13 seconds left in the third quarter.

The defending national champions would put up with no more such business, however. Princeton scored the next three goals and five of the final six to top Massachusetts and earn a place in the national quarterfinals. The Tigers face off against No. 3 Syracuse in Syracuse this Saturday. It will be the teams' first meeting of the season.

In the other quarterfinal matchups, top-seeded Johns Hopkins will battle No. 8 Loyola, No. 2 Virginia will play host to No. 7 Brown, and unseeded Notre Dame, which upset No. 5 Duke Saturday, will compete at No. 4 Maryland.

Princeton's freshmen led the Tigers' late run. Rookie midfielder Jesse Hubbard broke the 5-5 tie with his first goal of the contest and contributed another goal 9:10 later to give Princeton an 8-5 lead. Classmate and attackman Jon Hess, the team assist leader, had a hand in both goals as well as an unassisted goal of his own to extend the Tigers' lead to 9-5. Freshman attackman Chris Massey scored a goal in the first quarter and added three key second-half assists to lead Princeton in points.

The Minutemen cut the lead to 9-6 with 3:47 remaining but could get no closer as the Tigers dominated the faceoffs in the closing min-

Unbelievable — but true: ... A batboy once made a bigger salary than some big league ballplayers he picked up bats for ... He was the legendary Eddie Bennett, a batboy for the Chicago White Sox in 1919 ... He told players to rub his shoulder and it would bring them luck ... They did, and they won the pennant that year ... Bennett got the reputation as a lucky charm, so the Dodgers hired him away in 1920, and THEY won the pennant ... Then, many teams wanted Bennett ... The Yankees offered him a big salary for the 1921 season ... Bennett went there, and the Yanks finished first! ... By that time, Bennett was making more than some players.

Tiger Lacrosse Moves on in NCAAs; Men in Quarters, Women in Final 4

Both Princeton's lacrosse teams will be in action again this Saturday as they battle to retain their respective NCAA lacrosse titles.

Thirsting for a chance at revenge, Chris Sailer's women's team will be playing down the road at Trenton State in the Final Four. The Tigers not only want to avenge a 10-9 loss to the Big Green during the regular season, they also want to show the seeding committee it was wrong in selecting Dartmouth as the No. 2 seed, instead of the Orange and Black.

The motivation will certainly be there for the defending champions, but don't expect Dartmouth to be cowed into submission. The Big Green will present a formidable challenge, and this contest should go down to the final minutes und very possibly into overtime before a winner emerges.

For those who would like to see the action in person on Trenton State's artificial turf field, the starting time is not until 5:30. There are Division Three games ahead of these Division One match-ups, and the Maryland-Penn State semifinal will begin after those have ended around 3. For those who do not want their cocktail time interrupted, Prime Network has graciously agreed to televise both semifinal games live. Prime generally works through the Sportschannel outlets, but it will be best to check your cable television listings on Saturday.

If Princeton advances to the finals on Sunday it will probably face top-seeded and undefeated Maryland, which is favored to knock off Penn State. The championship game will begin at 3. Two-day tickets can be bought on Saturday for $10 for adults, and $7 for students and senior citizens. If you don't like the Tigers' chances against Dartmouth, a one-day ticket will be sold for $6 and $4.

The men will play Syracuse in the Carrier Dome beginning at 1 on Saturday. WPRB (103.3 FM) will broadcast that game live. Syracuse is the third seed, but the feeling here is the Tigers match up pretty well with the Orangemen. The two schools haven't met in the regular season in decades, but have split a pair of NCAA tournament contests. Old Nassau won the memorable title game in 1992, 10-9, in double overtime; Syracuse took a semifinal contest the following year, 15-9, the last time the two faced each other.

The winner will go on to the Final Four in College Park, Maryland to be played over Memorial Day weekend. The semifinals are set for Saturday and the finals Monday afternoon. It is expected that ESPN2 will telecast the semifinals live and ESPN will do the finals, also live.

utes and tallied two more goals. Senior attackman and co-captain Scott Conklin, a first-team all-Ivy League selection, recorded two goals and an assist.

Junior midfielder Jeff MacBean and senior defender and co-captain Todd Higgins were also named to the All-Ivy first team. Senior defender and co-captain Nick Lane made the second team, as did Hubbard, who was also honored as Ivy League Rookie of the Year.

Women Beat Temple

The women's lacrosse team (13-2), which finished the season with a No. 2 national ranking and was therefore somewhat surprised to be playing a first-round NCAA game last Saturday, took a little bit of time to get down to business and found itself in a 7-7 tie with Temple midway through the second half.

From there, though, the Tigers exploded on a 7-0 run over the next 11 minutes to down the Owls, 14-8, and get where Princeton always expected to be: in a final four matchup with Ivy League champion and No. 2 seed Dartmouth. The teams will square off this Saturday afternoon at Trenton State, as will top-seeded Maryland and No. 4 seed Penn State. The winners meet Sunday in a game to decide the national champion.

Temple never led in the game but hung close or even until Princeton began its run at the 15:56 mark of the second half. The Tigers scored twice in the first 1:33 and took an early 3-0 lead, but the Owls scored the next three goals to tie the game with just under 10 minutes remaining in the first half. Princeton grabbed another three-goal lead, 6-3, early in the second half, but the Owls notched four of the next five goals to knot the contest again.

But senior midfielder and co-captain Amory Rowe knocked in one of her five goals on the afternoon to key the Tiger run, and junior attack Abigail Gutstein tallied each of her three scores during the Princeton streak to lead the Tigers to what was ultimately a wide margin of victory over Temple. Freshman attack Cristi Samaras, who was named Ivy League Rookie of the Year Thursday, notched a pair of goals for Princeton, and junior goalie Erin O'Neill recorded 16 saves.

Samaras, Rowe, Gutstein, O'Neill, junior attack Lisa Rebanc and sophomore defender Carter Marsh all received spots on the All-Ivy League first team. The six first-team selections is the most in school history. Rowe, who already holds Princeton's career records for assists and points, is within four goals of the career goals record of 132.

This Saturday's game will be a rematch of Princeton and Dartmouth's April 1 meeting, in which the Big Green edged the Tigers by a 10-9 margin. But as head coach Chris Sailer emphasized, "The game won't be about revenge — they're just one of the teams in our way of becoming national champions again."

In addition to the lacrosse and softball squads, the men's and women's crews will be in action this weekend at Eastern Sprints in Worcester, Mass., and New Preston, Conn., respectively. The women and lightweights are favored to repeat as Sprints champions, while the heavyweights must upset favorite Brown to head into the IRA Regatta June 1-3 with a Sprints victory under its belt.

The women's next competition after this weekend will be at the National Championships June 10.

LOOKING FOR AN OPENING: Princeton Day's Kevin Gallagher pumped in four goals and added two assists in the Panthers' 14-6 triumph over Pennington Monday. PDS will play Newark in the Prep B finals.

It's PDS, Lawrenceville In Prep "A" Lax Final

The quarterfinals and semifinals are over, and to no one's surprise they proved to be a mere formality that Princeton Day and Lawrenceville had to walk through on the way to their rematch in girls lacrosse. The rematch will come this Thursday at Rutgers Prep for the Prep A girls' lacrosse championship.

The Panthers won the first meeting between the two, 15-14, in overtime, but that mere one-goal victory will carry very little over to Thursday for PDS, beyond a little confidence. On the other hand, the loss may have sparked the Larries into giving a bigger effort this time. The Red and Black crushed Blair, 22-11, in its semifinal contest.

The Blue and White reached the finals with a 13-9 triumph over Pingry on Monday, the 15th consecutive triumph for coach Leslie Hagen's team, which has not lost since April 8. Big Blue gave the Panthers an initial scare, taking a 3-0 lead early in the first half, but PDS returned to form quickly and led 12-6 at the intermission. There was little scoring in the second half.

Dana DeCore had four goals and two assists, Kathy Knapp tallied a hat trick and Jesse D'Altrui, Amanda Scherck, Nicole Svoboda and Robin Ackerman all tallied once. PDS outshot the visitors, 21-12, with Jess Boyd making five saves and Chandler Plohn, three.

The Panthers began their trip to the finals last Wednesday in a quarterfinal round, pounding Oak Knoll for the second time this season. Last month it was a 17-7 final; this time PDS prevailed, 15-6. Any suspense over the outcome disappeared early, as PDS jumped out to an 8-2 lead in the first half.

D'Altrui's five goals led the way; four players, Scherck, Svoboda, Ackerman and DeCore had two apiece. PDS outshot the visitors 31 to 13, Boyd and Plohn had four and three saves respectively.

On Friday, PDS took time off from the tournament to stick it to Hunterdon Central, 13-7, at home. This time Kathy Knapp was the top gun, scoring five times. Robin Ackerman had a hat trick and DeCore and D'Altrui tallied two apiece. Kari Zarzecki scored once. The Panthers started slowly, leading by just 5-3 at the intermission, but took full control in the second, outscoring the visitors, 8-4.

Hun Will Battle Big Red For Top Prep "A" Spot

The Hun baseball team whipped St. Joseph's of Metuchen 13-6 on Monday, securing for themselves a spot in the Prep "A" state final against Lawrenceville on Monday.

Behind the seven-hit complete game of Mike Geiger, whose record improved to 8-1, the Raiders jumped ahead early.

Hun's 11-hit attack pushed 12 runs across the plate in the first four innings of play, and put the visitors so far in the hole that a four-run sixth made no difference.

Nick Giello was 3-for-3 for the Raiders with a home run, three runs scored, and two RBIs. Ross Barbieri also hit a homer and drove in three runs.

val PDS last week. The Raiders were held to two runs on eight hits in the 3-2 extra-inning loss.

Chris Moraitis produced half of the Hun offense, going 4-for-5 with a double, an RBI, and two stolen bases. Chris Arland belted a triple, scored a run, and had one RBI.

Pete Richardson pitched eight innings, allowing 11 hits, striking out two, and walking only one.

The Raiders fell behind 3-0 in the first game of the Mercer County Tournament last Saturday, but rallied to take a 7-3 win from Trenton.

Sophomore Arthur Gross got the start, and went six innings. He allowed three runs on four hits, struck out four and walked three.

Geiger pitched the final inning, striking out two and allowing one hit.

The Raiders will face Notre Dame in the Tournament's second round. The game is scheduled for noon on Saturday at Mercer County Park's Field number 1.

Struggling PHS Baseball Eliminated from Tourney

The PHS basehall team lost to Notre Dame 16-8 on Monday. Down 9-0 after 2⅓ innings, the Tigers rallied to 9-8 in the fifth. Unfortunately, the bats fell silent again, and Notre Dame powered seven more across in the final two innings.

Captain Scott Muzyk extended his hitting streak (which stretches back to last season) to 21 games with a douhle, a run scored, nnd an RBI. Ron Ira was 2-for-3 with a run scored and an RBI. Captain Mike Nolan nnd Mike Berkman were both 2-for-4 wlth an RBI; Nolan had two runs scored.

Starting pitcher Rich Scalabrino lasted two innings, allowing five runs on seven hits to take the loss.

The Tigers fell 6-4 to Hamilton in the first round of the County tournament on Saturday, but gave the Hornets a scare doing it.

The two teams went into the sixth inning tied at 3-3, but an uncarned run gave the Tigers a 4-3 lead headed into the bottom of the frame.

The Hornets, perennial contenders in County and CVC play, did what had to be done. They pushed three runners across in the bottom of the sixth, and held Princeton scoreless in the seventh, taking the win.

Muzyk, Nathan Dean, and Kyle Mapps were all 2-for-4 at the plate. Muzyk banged a triple and scored a run. Dean had a run scored and an RBI, and Mapps had an RBI.

Berkman pitched 5⅓ and took the loss. He allowed only six hits and struck out two, but was hurt by five walks.

PHS fell 9-4 to Lawrence on Friday. The Cardinals held Princeton to six hits while collecting 11 of their own. Berkman was 2-for-4 with an RBI.

Jeff Tantum pitched four innings and suffered the loss. The right-handed senior allowed five runs on nine hits while striking out three and walking none.

PHS plays McCorristin away on Thursday, and will host Hopewell at 3:45 p.m. on Tuesday.

Hun Tops Lawrenceville As Tnurney Approaches

The Hun School tennis team beat Lawrenceville 3-2 in its only match this week, taking its regular season record to 12-3 before the beginning of the Prep "A" state tournament.

Matt Shaine dominated the first singles contest, winning 6-1, 6-0. Adam Epstein and Justin Stein, at second and third singles, respectively, also took straight-set victories.

The first round of the state tournament is scheduled for Wednesday morning. It will he held at the Lawrenceville School.

PHS 16-0 on Tennis Court, As 1995 Season Nears End

PHS continued to dominate all comers in tennis last week, although a determined Notre Dame squad made them work for a 3-2 win.

After a pair of three-set losses in first and second singles the Tigers had to count on wins from third singles player Will Goldfarb and the doubles teams of Adam Goldfarb and Mark Vovsi, and Yoshiki Obayashi nnd Jesse Antin to secure the win.

Last Thursday, PHS played host to Moorestown, traditionally one of the strongest tennis programs around, and won 3-2. The Tigers got singles wins from Adam Breo and Will Goldfarb.

Mark Vovsi and Dan Suleiman continued to shine in first doubles, winning 6-3, 6-4.

Against Lawrenceville on Friday, PHS won 4-1. Breo and second singles player Nikhil Mavinkurve both won in straight sets to get the ball rolling.

Will Goldfarb battled to a 7-6 (7-3) tiebreaker win in the third set of his third singles match.

To gain Princeton's fourth victory, Vovsi and Suleiman also had to go into a third set tiebreaker. True to form, they escaped with a win, 7-6 (7-5).

As CVC competition winds down, PHS is scheduled to face McCorristin at home on Thursday followed by Hopewell away on Monday, and Hamilton away on Wednesday.

Three Consecutive Wins For PHS Boys' Laerosse

The PHS boys' lacrosse team pushed their winning streak to three games last week, beating Voorhees 8-7 and North Hunterdon 11-6.

Against Voorhees, the Tigers were paced by a pair of hat tricks from Jason Carter and Matt Crusey. The difference in the game was the Tigers' 2-1 advantage after the first quarter. The teams were dead even in scoring through the final three frames.

Crusey netted his second hat trick in as many games on Saturday, as the Tigers stomped North Hunterdon. Senior captain Derrek Vernon was also a three-goal scorer, while Carl Feller and Hunter Blair scored a pair each.

Ben Solomon netted the remaining PHS goal, and goalie Kevin Feller made 12 saves in the net.

PHS was scheduled to play Hun on Tuesday, too late for this issue. The Tigers will host powerful Peddie on Saturday at 1 p.m., in their last scheduled game of the year.

Hun Defeats PDS, 3-2 In Softball Semifinal

The Princeton Day softball team came within three outs of moving into the Prep B title game Thursday, but could not quite hold on, losing to second-seeded Hun, 3-2, in eight innings.

The Panthers at first looked like they might make a 1-0 lead stand up the whole way, with pitcher Katharine Doss throwing a three-hit shutout through five innings. Sarah Green had scored the only run of the game up to that point. The Raiders managed to tie the contest in the sixth when Erica Rosenthal's single drove home Andrea Lasker, who had doubled.

Then, in the top of the seventh, Sara Hart reached first on an error, and stole her way around the bases, including home, to give PDS the potential winning run. Hun had other ideas, however, and tied the score in its half of the seventh, sending the game into extra innings. In the eighth, Leah Bills smacked a triple, and Janney Lyons, who had grounded out three previous times, stroked a two-out single to win the game.

The victory sent Hun, 12-7, into the finals on Thursday against top-seeded Morristown-Beard, the defending champion, who defeated Pennington, 11-2. The game will be played at 4 p.m. on Smith Field in Parsippany.

For PDS, the season is over, but it was another good one, finishing with a 12-4 record. Earlier in the week it had played its way into the quarterfinals with an 11-1 triumph over Gill St. Bernards. The contest was not one after three innings, by which time PDS led 9-1. Only two more innings were played; the game was stopped after the fifth under the 10-run rule.

Winning pitcher Doss allowed just two hits, striking out eight along the way. Rachel Glat and Darcy Peifer, who slammed a double, each drove in a pair of runs.

CAUGHT IN A RUN DOWN: Princeton Day's Adaishala Hendrix is caught in a rundown and tagged out by a Hun player during Monday's Prep B semifinal game. Hun defeated PDS, 3-2.

PHS Girls Better WW-P, Boosting Record to 6-2-1

The PHS girls' lacrosse team has become a squad to be feared in local competition. The Tigers took a 14-10 win from the West Windsor-Plainsboro Pirates on Monday, improving their record to 6-2-1.

Seven goals from senior Sheri Durkee and another four from Jordan Neas helped the Tigers, who took a 9-4 halftime lead and held on in the second frame.

Princeton outshot WW-P 42-24; goalie Rebecca Abrams had 14 saves.

Durkee netted five of the Tigers' 10 goals in last week's 10-7 defeat of the Peddie School.

The two teams played a 6-6 first half, but the PHS defense picked up their play in the second half, allowing only one goal.

Neas netted three for PHS, and Abrams made 19 saves.

PHS has only one remaining regular season match, a rescheduled away battle with West Windsor-Plainsboro at 3:45 on Monday.

Raider Lax Streak Halts With 16-2 Loss to L'ville

The Hun School boys' lacrosse team had a three-game winning streak halted on Monday in a crushing 16-2 loss to Lawrenceville. The defeat bounced the Raiders from the Prep "A" state tournament.

Morgan Battle and Josh Schottland were the only Raiders to crack the Big Red defense, scoring one goal apiece as their team was outshot, 37-17.

Schottland powered the Raider offense in a 9-2 trouncing of St. Benedict's on Saturday. The senior captain was good for eight of Hun's nine goals in the contest.

After allowing one goal in each of the first quarters, the Hun defense clamped the lid on the visiting Gray Bees, holding them scoreless in the second half.

Goal keeper Trevor Tierney made 14 saves on the afternoon.

Greg Pinkwater brought a hat trick to the party on Friday, and his squad walked away with a 10-7 victory over Pennington.

The Raiders rallied from a 6-5 deficit at the end of the third quarter, outscoring Pennington 5-1 to gain the lead and the win.

Battle and Sean Loftus had two goals apiece, and Tierney made nine saves in the goal.

The Raiders crushed a 2-9 Hopewell squad a week ago Tuesday, 13-3. The Raiders were led once again by Schottland, who netted five, and senior Pete Nogueras, who scored three. In goal, Tierney added 11 saves to his total.

Hun played Princeton High on Tuesday, too late for this issue.

PDS Lacrosse Headed For Finals Thursday

Will it be a three-peat?

The Princeton Day lacrosse team is headed for the Prep B finals this Monday at Rutgers Prep, hoping to win its third consecutive title.

The Panthers, 7-7, whipped Pennington, 14-6, Monday, and will face Newark Academy, which defeated top-seeded Morristown-Beard in the other semifinal bracket. Coach Tom Griffith's team didn't waste any time disposing of the 4-8 Raiders, jumping out to a 5-0 lead in the first period. When the Blue and White followed with another five in the second quarter for a 10-1 lead at the half, the final two periods became superfluous.

Senior Dan Knipe, winding up a superlative career at Princeton Day, scored six goals, followed by Kevin Gallagher, who tallied four times and assisted on two other goals. Roy Lynam, Ren Thompson, Mark Chatham and Mike O'Neill all scored once. Elliot Shuke made 11 saves, his replacement Mark Gray made four.

Stuart Lacrosse Loses To Hopewell Valley

Stuart lost its last game of the regular season to Hopewell Valley, 16-10, last Friday, but coach Anne Weitzman — even with a 4-10 season record — wasn't upset.

Despite the small size of its student body, sports teams at the all-girl Prep B Stuart School routinely play tough schedules against predominantly Prep A teams in preparation for the season-ending Prep B Tournaments. Looking at the Tartans' trophy case crowded with state championship awards, one notes that the strategy often works.

Stuart garnered the second spot in the recent Prep B State Tournament seedings, following top-seeded Hun School. Rutgers Prep is third, followed by Morristown Beard, fourth, and Purnell, fifth.

Against Hopewell Valley, first home Karolina Bulaj and third home Claire Miller led the Tartans with three goals each. Bulaj added two assists, while Miller registered one. Stacy Sparella notched two goals and two assists, followed by Courtney Hodock with one goal and one assist. Justyna Piasecka found the net with one shot. Center Megan Collier and coverpoint Eliza Hoover contributed one assist apiece. Netminder Alicia Fruscione made 12 saves.

"I thought we played quite well," commented coach Weitzman. "We were missing two starting players due to illness [Ginger Vroom and Megan Hunter] which upset our offense somewhat."

MR. PIEBALD AND FRIEND: Princeton Day School sixth grader Lily Stockman, daughter of Lisa and Robert Stockman of Princeton, won first prize and $200 in a national writing contest sponsored by the United States Pony Club. Lily won the contest with her story entitled "A Close Encounter" about an exciting foxhunt she attended last fall with her pony Mr. Piebald. The story will appear in the Chronicle of the Horse magazine and the U.S. Pony Club News. Lily is an active member of the Amwell Valley Hounds Pony Club where she has earned a C2 rating.

didn't make it very easy on himself, but worked out of every situation except one, as the Raiders stranded 15 runners. Led by Pete Denby's four hits, and two each by Landry, Cadava and Scott Mauney, PDS had other scoring chances also, but left 12 men on base.

In a game last Wednesday, Trenton beat up on PDS, 14-7.

PDS Parents Association Seeks Sports Equipment

The Parents Association of Princeton Day School is requesting donations of all types of sports equipment on Wednesday, May 31 from 3 to 4 p.m., and Thursday, June 1 from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m. and 3 to 4, at the Princeton Day School Ice Skating Rink, The Great Road.

Ice skates and ice hockey equipment, in-line skates and skateboards, horseback riding items, rackets, balls, golf clubs, lacrosse sticks and safety equipment are all welcome.

The Parents Association will sell the equipment at its annual Used Sports Equipment Sale, which is open to the entire community, next September. Proceeds of the sale go to support the athletic programs at Princeton Day School.

For further information, call Barbara Morrison at 466-0354.

Final Game Wednesday For PDS Baseball Team

The Princeton Day baseball team will close out its season this Wednesday with a game against Blair Academy. A victory would enable the Panthers to close out their season with a 7-8 mark. It's been a tough season for a team that won its first three, and then has won only three more out of its next 11 contests, losing four of those by just one run.

But last Friday a one-run affair ended in favor of the Blue and White, as it defeated Hun 3-2. Senior pitcher Gerry Cadava gave himself something to remember, pitching all nine innings and knocking in the winning run in the bottom of the ninth with a single. Cadava had a 2-0 shutout going through six innings, and needed only three more outs in the top of the seventh to lock up the victory.

However, the visiting Raiders tallied twice to answer the pair of runs PDS pushed across in the fourth. When PDS could not score in the seventh the game went into extra innings. Phil Glassner led off the ninth with a single and moved all the way to third when Brooks Landry's sacrifice attempt was botched, putting runners at second and third with none out. Cadava followed with his game-winning hit.

Allowing eight hits and walking seven, Cadava

THIS BOAT SHOE MIGHT OUTLAST YOUR BOAT.

Who would buy a boat unless they were sure it would stand up to years of pounding surf and corrosive salt? We at Timberland say you should be just as demanding of the shoes you wear at sea. After all, your shoe is all that stands between you and a slippery deck. Which is why we've developed a sole that's as tenacious on wet surfaces as a barnacle on a rock. Above the sole you'll find handsewn leather uppers and solid brass eyelets whose timeless character improves with each passing season of wild weather. Just like a well-made boat. THE U-STORE OFFERS THE BEST IN CONTEMPORARY FICTION:

A Dance to the Music of Time. Anthony Powell. University of Chicago Press, pb. Vols 1-3 $17.95 ea, Vol 4 $18.95.

Now in paperback for the first time, each of these critically acclaimed four volumes is itself comprised of three novels. In the first volume, four very different young men—the narrater, Jenkins, a budding writer; Templer, already a passionate womanizer; the aristocratic and reckless Stringham; and the ambitions and hopelessly awkward Widmerpool— are tracked through the fever of the 1920s and the first chill of the 1930s. The second movement is set against the distant rumble of events in Germany and Spain presaging the storm of World War II. The third movement covers the war itself, and introduces Pamela Flitton, one of the most beautiful and dangerous women in modern fiction. The climactic fourth volume deals with the post-war period, set against a backdrop of politics, business, high society, and the counterculture.

Mayor's Race

that pay no taxes. Mr. Freda feels that the issue of tax-exempt properties is one that needs to be looked at.

"Asking Princeton University for more money is appropriate to some degree, but it is not the solution," he said. "I propose we look at ways of changing the State legislation that makes properties tax exempt."

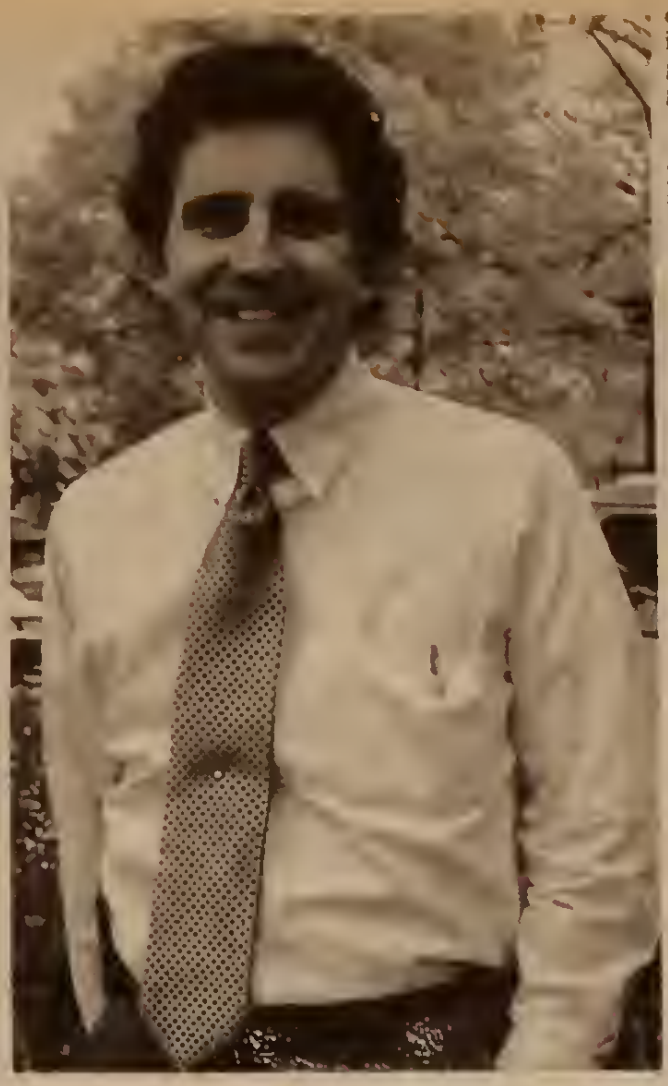
At this point, Mr. Freda sees the number of tax-exempt properties, and their continued growth, as the greatest threat to the quality of life in Princeton.

Entering the primary was something that Mr. Freda thought about a lot, he said. He wasn't made uncomfortable by it because "the Democratic party has always promoted itself as being very representative, very open."

Has Mr. Freda's relationship with Mayor Reed changed since he announced his plans? "Not at all," he said. "We had sat down before the public announcement and agreed we would be very fair to each other and not do anything in a negative way."

Mr. Freda, 38, graduated from Notre Dame High School and received a B.A. in political science from Trenton State College. After working for six years as a building inspector at Princeton University, he joined Commodities Corporation, where he is now associate vice president, Facilities Management.

He describes his style of government as "very inclusive. I go out of my way to make sure that every viewpoint has the opportunity to be presented, and I'm extremely willing to go out and solicit others' opinions."



Mark Freda

Being direct is also important to him. "I think Council needs to get to the point, make decisions, and go on to the next item. That's why we're there."

In November, voters will be asked whether they want to establish a commission to study consolidation of the Borough and Township. Although Mr. Freda said his gut reaction is that the consolidation study probably makes sense, he supports the formation of a citizens' group that would look at specific issues relating to consolidation. The group's findings would give voters and members of Council information on the possible effects of consolidation before it appears on the ballot.

Numbers Based on Facts

"We need some factual information on future financial projections before November," said Mr. Freda. "The question is, how much money are we going to save Borough residents? We need to put out some facts to people so they have some real numbers based on facts when they talk about consolidation, and not just the pure emotion of grabbing numbers out of the air."

Many concerns have been expressed at Council meetings about the future financial condition of the Borough, where a combination of inflation and limited ratable growth create a double whammy.

Mr. Freda sees cost containment as one answer to this problem, and cites the Borough's recently enacted policy of looking at any and every position that is being vacated to decide whether it should be filled.

He also points to the savings gained by passing along some of the increasing cost of health insurance directly to Borough employees, as well as to the Borough's involvement in both joint insurance and self insurance, which has saved significant amounts of money.

Commercial Development

"As far as the ratable base, we need to be much more responsive to commercial development," he said. Citing the example of the recently opened Brew Pub on Nassau Street, he noted that there was still room for small- to mid-size commercial development in the Borough.

"I want businesses to look at the Borough and say, 'there's a town that wants us in, wants to work with us so we're successful."

Mr. Freda also wants Council to wrap up its review of the Borough's zoning ordinances, since, he says, zoning can not only control growth but also can promote growth in certain areas.

The ever-increasing retail presence on Route 1 poses serious competition to Borough merchants, Mr. Freda feels, "because most people have the perception that you can buy things on Route 1 at a lower cost than in town."

To counter this, he said that Borough business and government need to work jointly to promote the business district.

Mr. Freda has been a volunteer in the Princeton Fire Department since 1974 and in the Princeton First Aid Squad since 1976. He has been a member of the board of directors of Youth Employment Service since 1989.

He and his wife, Beth, a real estate appraiser, expect their first child in October.

Mr. Freda points out that in his ten years on Council he has attended 92 percent of all Council meetings. He also notes that, because of his position on Council, he attends about 14 other meetings a month. "I am more than willing to put in the time and do the work," he said.

"Some people have said that everything is running fairly smoothly in the Borough," he said, "and have asked whether there is a real reason for a change. I think people need to look deeper than what is on the surface. A lot of things appear to be fine, but a number of things could be done better. I am not a person who assumes the status quo is acceptable. There is always room for improvement."

The Ewing based Center for Outreach and Services for the Autism Community is a 30-year-old nonprofit agency which provides information and referral, training, support, education, consultation and advocacy for the autism community. For further information about COSAC, call Executive Director Nancy Richardson, 883-8100.

Ellen Currie of Pennington, whose novel Available Light (1986), made her a finalist for the National Book Award, will read from a new collection of short stories, Moses Supposes, in the Laceworks, Lamhertville, Friday, May 19, at 7:30 p.m.

The fourth of the Art and Fiction Series, which presents community authors reading from their works in a gallery setting, the reading is sponsored by Rivergate Books and Riverrun Gallery.

Moses Supposes, which Simon & Schuster will release officially on May 31, is a collection of 12 short stories.

A Columbia University graduate, Ms. Currie has had stories published in The New Yorker and also taught fiction at Sarah Lawrence and Columbia. She was a vice president at the J. Walter Thompson advertising agency.

Proceeds from the reading will benefit the Delaware Township Community Education Foundation, a nonprofit organization to improve the educational opportunities of Delaware Township students.

Tickets at $10 are available in advance in Lambertville at Rivergate Books, 7 Lambert Lane or Riverrun Gallery, 287 South Main Street. On May 19, tickets may be purchased at the door. Call 397-2213 for further information.

T. Joseph Semrod, chairman, president and chief executive officer of UJB Financial Corp., has been selected to receive the American Jewish Committee Central New Jersey Chapter 1995 Institute of Human Relations Award. The award will be presented to Mr. Semrod at a dinner in his honor on Wednesday, May 31, at the Hyatt Regency-Princeton.

Mr. Semrod serves as vice chairman of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce and is on the board of trustees and executive committee of the National Urban League. He is also on the board of advisors of Outward Bound, Inc. and is a member and past chairman of Partnership for New Jersey.

Mr. Semrod introduced a new initiative, aimed at minority youngsters in New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania, that emphasizes overcoming obstacles and setting goals. The Partners in Pride Excellence Program seeks to motivate young people through inspirational messages delivered by celebrities via tapes. Program materials will be available through the banks' 197 branches as well as through the community development staff.

For more information about the dinner, call Allyson Gall or Jhanna Even at (201) 397-7844.

St. Francis Medical Center has named John E. Stoddard of Lawrenceville the recipient of the 1995 "Spirit of St. Francis Award." This award is given annually to an individual or organization exemplifying the legacy of St. Francis of Assisi, who served the poor and underserved of the community, and taught by example that it is "in giving that we receive."

Mr. Stoddard, chairman and president of EDUSCO Service Corporation in Princeton, is a longtime supporter of St. Francis Medical Center. He served many years as a member of the board of trustees and as chairman from 1985 to 1987. He has also served on the boards of the Franciscan Health Systems, the Trenton State College Foundation and The Hun School, among many others.

Donald Light of Adams Drive has been selected to be the Regents Visiting Professor at the University of California, San Francisco, School of Medicine.

A professor of comparative health care systems at the University of Medicine & Dentistry of New Jersey, Mr. Light is talking with faculty about their projects and working on a design that would return managed care to a small-scale, clinical level. He will give lectures on the growing inequities of the private health insurance system, on why competition between large managed care corporations will stop being cost-effective by the end of this decade, and on the changing character of the medical profession.

Prof. Light has also been invited by Oxford University to deliver the biennial Brod Lecture on May 18. The topic will be the transformation by Mrs. Thatcher of the National Health Service from an administered public service to a set of competitive markets, a topic on which Prof. Light has written extensively. This will be his third visit to Oxford.

He received the visiting faculty fellowship at Green College in 1990 and at Balliol College in 1992.

The Women's Political Caucus of New Jersey bestowed its Mary Philbrook Award upon Susan N. Wilson of Province Line Road at its annual conference. The award is named for an attorney who was known as an activist on behalf of women. Previous recipients include Millicent Fenwick and Barbara Boggs Sigmund, among others.

Mrs. Wilson serves as executive coordinator of the Network for Family Life Education sponsored by the Center for Community Education at the Rutgers University School of Social Work. As a member of the New Jersey State Board of Education she was instrumental in developing the statewide requirement for family and sexuality education in the public schools. For the past 15 years, she has been involved in helping individual school districts develop family life/human sexuality curricula and train teachers.

OBITUARIES

Robert Bernhard Jr., 20, of Clearview Avenue, died May 9 of a heart attack while playing basketball in Grover Park.

Born in New York City, he attended Princeton High School and was a sophomore at Mercer County Community College, where he was a member of the National Honor Society.

He is survived by his parents, Robert and Rita Bernhard; a brother, Jamie Bernhard at home; his maternal grandmother, Anne Samson of Cranford; and his paternal grandmother, Anne Bernhard of Brooklyn, N.Y.

A memorial service will be held at a later date.

Memorial contributions in his name may be made to the American Heart Association, 2550 Route 1, North Brunswick 08902.

Foreal M. Wooten, 18, died May 8 at home. Born in Trenton he was a lifelong Princeton resident.

He was a senior at Princeton High School where he played football, basketball and baseball. He was a member of First Baptist Church.

Grandson of the late Chester Wooten Sr., he is survived by his parents, Chester Wooten Jr. of Lawrence and Norma Morales of Trenton; five sisters, Chantal Wooten of Lawrence, Keoka Wooten of Trenton, Ontrea Wooten-Paul of Trenton, Bonney Morales of Trenton and Myra Negro of Philadelphia; three brothers, Tomar Wooten of Lawrence, Blitz Wooten and Louis Negro, both of Trenton; his paternal grandmother, Laura Mitnaul Wooten of Lawrence; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Morales of Trenton; and several aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews and cousins.

The service was held Saturday at Princeton University Chapel, the Rev. Michael C.R. Nabors, associate minister of Shiloh Baptist Church of Trenton, officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Memorial Day Service

The green lawns and flowering trees of the Trinity-All Saints' Cemetery will be the setting for the traditional Memorial Day Service to be held Monday, May 29, at 9:30 a.m.

All members of the Princeton community are invited to participate in this brief service of prayer and thanksgiving. Especially to be remembered are those who have died this past year; members of the armed forces who have served the nation, often sacrificing their lives; and those whose lives have touched others individually or collectively.

The Trinity-All Saints' Cemetery is located adjacent to All Saints' Episcopal Church, off Terhune Road on All Saints' Road.

In case of inclement weather, the service will be held inside the Church. Ample parking is available.

Barton R. Rouse, 40, died May 7 at home in Princeton.

Born in Lancaster, Pa., he graduated from Princeton High School in 1972. He apprenticed with the Pittsburgh Ballet for two years before attending Emerson College in Boston, Mass. where he graduated in 1976 with a B.F.A. in theater and dance. In 1977 Mr. Rouse wrote, choreographed and directed a performance called Pavanes.

He lived almost a decade in the Berkshire mountains in Massachusetts where he learned his professional skill of cooking and his personal skill of gardening. In 1984 he returned to New Jersey where he became the head chef steward at Terrace Club. A cookbook called Eating Ivy, written from his experiences, was published in 1991, with proceeds benefitting Terrace Club.

His garden was featured in 1989 in an issue of New Jersey Monthly Magazine. He also had many pets and raised and showed Pekingese dogs. He was a member of the Pekingese Club of Central New Jersey for seven years.

Surviving are his partner Marc Coleman; his parents, Erma Lee and Ron Rouse of Princeton; and two sisters, Julia A. Myers of Amherst, Mass., and Moira L. Rouse of Worcester, Mass.

A service to celebrate his life was held Saturday at Terrace Club. In lieu of flowers, planting flowers somewhere in his memory is suggested.

Thomas S. Matthews, 69, died at his home in Cavendish, Suffolk, England on May 13 of a heart attack.

A native of Princeton, he was educated at Princeton Day School, South Kent School, Conn., and, after a stint in the Army in the European theatre, at Princeton University, from which he graduated cum laude in 1950, taking the Dickenson prize for excellence in logic.

He read philosophy at New College, Oxford for three years and spent a year at Cambridge University earning his teaching certificate. Before turning to teaching, Mr. Matthews had been a pig farmer in Essex, England.

He taught English literature in Castle Manor School, Haverhill, Suffolk, from 1973 to 1981. Then followed a year as an exchange teacher at Williston-Northampton School, Easthampton, Mass., followed by a year at the Gill-St. Bernard's School in Gladstone, N.J.

After his return to England, Mr. Matthews taught at Edward VI School, Bury St. Edmunds, from 1985 to 1989 when illness forced early retirement.

He played half a dozen musical instruments, including the trumpet, which he played in local jazz groups. He sang in various choirs, the Princeton University Glee Club and the Oxford University Bach choir. In his student days he also excelled in sports, playing ice hockey (captain) at South Kent, Princeton and Oxford, where he also captained the New College "Penguins" tennis team.

He is survived by his wife, the former Anne J. M. Scott-Matheson, a son, Paul F. Matthews of London, England; three brothers, John of Princeton, Paul of Lambertville, and Alexander of Goveton, Devon, England; and two stepchildren, John Matheson Fulton of Charlotte, N.C. and Helene O. Matthews Rooda of Monmouth.

Jane R. Trotman Williams, 63, died May 12 at the Helene Fuld Medical Center, Trenton.

Born in Princeton, Mrs. Williams was a lifelong Princeton and Trenton area resident. She was educated in the public schools of Princeton, graduating from Princeton High School.

Mrs. Williams was the former director of the Culture Center at the Divine Shepherd Church of Trenton, and was a child-care provider. She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Princeton, and sang in the choir. She was also a well-known soloist in the area.

Daughter of the late Miles J. and Susie D. Trotman, she is survived by a son, Stephen A. Nelson of Trenton; a sister, Eleanor Thompson of Princeton; several nieces, nephews and cousins; two goddaughters; and a special friend, Garland Jones of Trenton.

The service will be held 8 p.m. Thursday at the First Baptist Church, John Street and Paul Robeson Place, the Rev. Felicia Y. Thomas, pastor, officiating. Burial will be 10 a.m. Friday in Princeton Cemetery.

Calling hours are 6 p.m. until the time of service Thursday at the church.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

By Tod Peyton

THE FINANCING CONTINGENCY

Residential sales agreements usually have clauses referred to as financing contingencies which allow the buyers to declare the contract null and void if they are unable to obtain financing. This may be the most important condition in your contract if you are buying a home, so read the contract carefully before you sign it.

Most financing clauses set a time limit of from 30 to 45 days for obtaining a firm commitment from a lender. They may set deadlines for applying for a loan, and require the buyer's full cooperation in obtaining all the information needed to process your loan. If the loan is not approved by the deadline, it may be necessary to request an extension from the sellers or take specific steps to void the contract and get your deposit money back. Be sure to note all of the financing deadlines in the contract, apply for your loan as soon as possible, and be diligent about providing the lender with any documents that are requested.

For dependable, individual advice on buying or selling real estate, call Tod Peyton, Realtor or any Peyton Associate at 921- 1550. Feel free to stop by my office at 343 Nassau Street in Princeton.

117 LIBRARY PLACE
PRINCETON BORO

One of Princeton's most elegant homes, this stately brick Georgian colonial was built in 1901 for the President of Princeton Theological Seminary. Located in the heart of the Boro on one of Princeton's most sought-after streets, it has a beautiful and unique curved staircase spiraling to the third floor and capped by an exquisite leaded glass dome, which lights the rotunda below. The magnificent 30 foot living room has fireplace and raised panel shutters. A charming feature is the solarium, with arched glass windows, French doors and marble staircase leading to the garden. The banquet-size dining room has deep "egg and dart" ceiling molding and, of course, a marble fireplace. A most fascinating and unusual room, the oak-panelled "Minister's Study" has antique cabinet panels depicting biblical scenes. Adjoining this study you will find the library with 10½ foot ceiling, built-in bookcases and still another fireplace. The spacious yet comfortable kitchen has imported floor and countertop tile accents, and a breakfast room. There are 6 bedrooms, 5 full + 2 half baths and 6 fireplaces, in addition to a separate 2 bedroom apartment, laundry, pantry, mud room, and computer room. The master bedroom suite is complete with dressing room, exercise room, bath, and fireplace.

FIRESTONE WELCOMES AND APPRECIATES LOIS SWANSON

When she said she lived on Bayberry Road, Hopewell, we knew we wanted her. Lois Swanson has lived there for 16 years and really knows the area. And better yet, her polite soft spoken countryside manner fit right into the crew at Firestone. She's an important part of our image as a soft selling firm.

Our firm goes beyond Princeton to the Elm Ridge - Pennington - Hopewell market where we have several good agents like Leslie Campbell, Leslie Feldstein (in Princeton Farms) and Elizabeth Bonasera on Poor Farm Road, all bringing Princeton buyers to these communities.

Lois has a B.A. and M.A.T. in German and combines with Elizabeth Bonasera who is also fluent in French and helps our international customers.

A SPACIOUS PRINCETON FAMILY HOME on .76 acres close to Littlebrook School. Tastefully decorated throughout with art deco motif it has newly done floors & carpets & a large living room, dining room, family room w/wood-burning stove, 3-4 bedrooms, 3 baths. $339,000

NEW LISTING

Carson Road — a charming country road just west of Princeton in Lawrence with a few attractive houses enjoying the serenity of the countryside. This one is completely secluded by luxuriant trees and plantings and the stone exterior blends with the woodland. A portico shelters the front door. The hall opens to a large gracious living room with fireplace and the formal dining room. The kitchen is modern with a breakfast area. An enclosed breezeway with wood-burning stove is a three season family room. Two master-sized bedrooms and 2 fully tiled baths complete the first floor. On second floor, a delightful dormered bedroom and a studio. A pool adds to summer enjoyment. A wonderful home for a family of all ages, with a Princeton address.

NEW LISTING

"Architecturally significant" — the designation by Lawrence Historical Society, only begins to describe this handsome house. Secluded by six acres of majestic trees and luxuriant plantings, its classic lines are evidence of the stately interior. Lofty 12' ceilings and massive moldings enhance the first floor. The wide center hall opens to a huge living room with bay window and 2 fireplaces. French doors open to a sun porch. The library has a marble fireplace. Artistic wainscoting adorns the formal dining room. The kitchen is modern, with breakfast area and adjoining all purpose room. On second floor, a luxurious master suite with windowed sitting room, two family bedrooms, hall bath and a two bedroom apartment. On third floor, 2 bedrooms and a bath. Some refurbishing could bring to its former grandeur this wonderful country estate. $695,000
